CITY EMPLOYES ASK FOR $40 RAISE

Where Is The New Post Office?

Pay Hike Based On Present High Cost Of Living

March of Dimes Research

Through the microscope, a March of Dimes-supported research scientist examines a section of tissue (shown enlarged in insert indicated by arrow) which has been attacked by polio virus. The nerve cell, showing the peculiar kind of damage inflicted by the virus, came from an animal experimentally infected with material believed to contain polio virus. Since the virus itself is too small to be seen under the microscope, scientists are forced to use this roundabout method of proving its presence. March of Dimes funds are aiding in the search for simpler and more direct detection work.

Ring Around The Rosy

Where Is The Connecting Street Between Westlake And Broadmoor?

"Ring Around the Rosy" is the song both proponents of, and objectors to a connecting street between Broadmoor and Westlake are singing today. They took up the song over one year ago.

The main chorus was taken up last Friday afternoon by the San Mateo County planning commission. A. J. Bodien, city representative on the commission, reported the group has put its foot down . . . and now will only accept a street running diagonal to the new Garden Village School.

Repeating their familiar refrain, the Jefferson elementary school board is certain to cut the planning commission's foot off at the ankle. Time and time again the board has repeated that the state will not accept a conecting street running adjacent to the school.

In Harmony

At one time, six months ago, the planning commission was in harmony with the school board. They agreed it would not be necessary to designate the particular position of the street next to the school. In unison with the school board, they repeated loud and clear that another street would be suitable, although not altogether agreeable.

New Street

The new street was to run north from 87th to Westlake, thence north and east to the intersection of Highway No. 1 and Skyline boulevard. In putting in the street, using the middle route, it would be necessary to move two homes. However, this would avoid putting the street close to the Garden Village school.

And how did the school board get into the chorus? Seems the planning commission won't give up White street, until a new street is adopted connecting Broadmoor and Westlake. And unless the commissioners give up White street, the school board asserts plans can not go ahead for the upper divi-

MYSTERY SURROUNDS FATE OF BUILDING

City Officials Apparently Do Not Know Future Plans For Building

There was some question today as to what has happened to plans for a new ultra-modern post office in Daly City.

Last November John F. Fixa, San Francisco postmaster, noted that A. R. Haskins, 6995 Mission, had agreed to build and lease a building for the new office. The structure, a one story stucco frame building, was to be built at the corner of Mission Circle and Bepler.

A recent government order banning construction of commercial buildings may put a damper on the plans for the post ofifce. City officials in San Mateo and Burlingame are no looking into the effect of the new law on similar plans for new post offices in those cities.

No Word

Contacted this week, Fixa noted that he had received no word from the government that the new ruling applied to the construction of post offices. He asserted that as of Tuesday, plans would go ahead for the building in Daly City.

But just how fast those plans would proceed was another question. Originally work was to have been under way on the 3,116 square foot building by January.

Haskins was awarded the contract for the building by the post office department, with work to begin shortly after the contract was let. The contract was given Haskins last November.

No One Knows

The contractor could not be reached for comment today.

When asked if progress was being made on the post office, Mayor Paul Green said he did not know. Nor, apparently do any of the city officials.

Meanwhile, Daly City residents continue to be burdened with a post office built to accomodate a population of 6,000, instead of 15,000.

PARKING METER PROTESTS RISE

Anti-Meter Petition To Be Presented Council

Gathering momentum today was a move by "several" Daly City business men to have some changes made in the new parking meter set up.

Thomas B. Gallen, attorney representing the dissenters, noted that a petition calling for a change in the meters is now being circulated in the main business district. He indicated that "several" meant at least 27 who had signed the document, and possibly 43 more who will sign this week.

Changes Wanted

Gallen said he hopes to present the petition to the city council at their next meeting, February 12.

Generally, those opposed to the meters have called for a return of diagonal parking, increasing the time limit on the meters, and removal of some of the meters in the combination residential-business district.

Mayor Paul Green noted today that the city would undoubtedly make some changes in the present parking meter set up. Whether or not these changes would be those advocated by the petition signers was another thing.

"For the most part the merchants and residents of Daly City appear to be in favor of the meters," Mayor Green said.

Revenue High

It appeared today that the meters would also serve as a valuable source of revenue to the city treasury. The mayor reported that in the first 10 days of operation, the nickels and pennies put in the boxes brought the city "about $400." Accurate figures will be available when the regular monthly check is made February 1.

The police department has not been idle, either. In the first 23 days of operation of the meters, the department issued close to 600 parking meter violation tags which brought the city about $650 in additional revenue.

DALY CITY MAN NAMED BOYS DIRECTOR

Archbishop John J. Mitty of San Francisco announced last night, January 24, that Lawrence R. McDonnell, 170 Wiltshire drive, has been elected to the board of directors of the Hanna Center for Boys.

McDonnel was elected last night at the annual meeting of the board in San Francisco.

Other San Mateo county residents on the governing board of the non-sectarian Sonoma boys' home are Andrew P. Welch of San Mateo and Robert Higgins of Burlingame.

EAGLES HALL

FIRE CHIEF Elmer Kennedy last Tuesday, January 16, assumed his duty as the first full time fire chief in the history of Daly City. The new department is in operation with five men, one short of the required six.

Praise For The Record

Sportswomen Note Value Of Weekly

To The Record:

Mr. Bradshaw, Editor, and all Record staff personnel:

On behalf of the Daly City Sportswomen, I wish to thank you for the fine cooperation you have extended us in printing our news at all times.

On my own behalf, as publicity chairman, I wish to thank you, too. My relationships with the personel of The Record have been most cordial and pleasant. Since may members of the Sportswomen have asked me to continue on as publicity chairman, I shall; and will look forward with pleasure to continued cordial relations with The Record and staff.

And just a word about the advantages of a small town paper. Maybe someone has overlooked them. One great advantage to organizations in this area is having a newspaper like The Record to publish news. The best that can be obtained from the larger down town papers, necessarily, is limited to notices of meetings, etc., which makes very dull reading.

With The Record publishing our news, we can really tell the interesting things about our clubs, and what they do. It is this sort of publicity that gets across to people, builds up interest, and helps build up the membership.

Sincerely,

Mildred Mae Whinen

NEW SANITATION DISTRICT SET UP

City Council Considers Other Routine Business

(Editor's Note: Number of people, outside of city officials, present at Monday night's council meeting . . . 4.)

Routine business was the keynote of the city council meeting Monday night. The only major item was a resolution to further plans for the new North San Mateo County Sanitation District.

The council rescinded an earlier resolution setting up the district in favor of a new resolution in which the city pledges some $35,000 toward the construction of a sewage treatment plant.

Changes Made

The earlier resolution had the city down for some $26,000, to be used both for the plant and for maintenance of the district. Monday night the council upped the sum, but cut out the clause which would make it responsible in part for funds for maintenance of the district.

This new resolution shortly will go before the county board of supervisors, who in turn are expected to set up the new district. This district will be composed of Daly City, unincorporated Colma and Broadmoor. It will provide the basis for a future bond issue (probably later this year) for the construction of a sewage treatment plant.

Plant Necessary

Construction of the plant, estimated cost of which is about $450,000, is necessary as the state has banned the city's present use of the ocean as a method of waste disposal.

Other business of the council was:

1. Approving the permanent employment of John Van Otten as police officer, effective January 16. Van Otten served his six months probation period as of January 15.

2. Progress payments approved included: $11,828 to the Ralph Larson & Son Co. for construction of the Community Center; $1,903 to Kirkbride, Wilson, Harzfeld & Wallace for legal work in the Concordia Land Improvement; and $536 to Patterson & Williams for recreation equipment.

3. Mrs. Dorothy Selmi was appointed temporary city treasurer (to receive no salary) while the regular city treasurer, Paul Selmi, is recovering from an illness.

A. An ordinance was passed rezoning a portion of Citrus street from C-1 to R-3.

5. An ordinance was introduced to vacate portion of streets in Westlake.

THIEF NOW HOLDS KEY TO GOVERNMENT MAIL

Whether he knows it or not, a thief today has a key which will open just about any U. S. mail pouch.

The key, along with four pencils and four ball point pens, was stolen from the car of Jack Murphy, a postal employe, 223 Miriam, Sunday afternoon.

Murphy told officers that the key would open almost any government mail pouch.

City Officials Refuse To Comment Until Further Figures Are Available

Some 40 civil service city employes this week requested a flat, across-the-board, cost of living pay hike of $40 a month.

Their demands were made known at a meeting between officials of the City Employes Association and the Civil Service Board of Review last Friday evening.

Mrs. Marion McKaskle, president of the employees association, said the proposed wage boost was based on the ever increasing cost of living. She asserted the majority of city employes have not received an increase in wages from one to two years.

Hike Basis

The $40 was based on the difference between present wages and the rise in the cost of living since the last general pay hike for city employes, Mrs. McKaskle noted.

She stressed that from time to time, as economic conditions change, the cost of living "bonus" would increase or decrease.

Orrin Wendling, city administrator, said the city is now investigating the wage scale of city employes in 15 Bay Area cities. The city has also requested a cost of living index from the federal government.

Figures Readied

"These figures, when compiled, will give us some basis on which to judge the fairness of the proposed $40 boost," Wendling said.

Mayor Paul Green today said he had no comment, and would have nothing to say until the city has compiled more data on the situation.

Other city councilmen also did not wish to express an opinion, although they agreed some pay raise was in order.

Wendling noted that the city employes would receive an answer to their demands early next month.

Speaking for the city employes, Mrs. McKaskle today said that at the present cost of living "anything under a $40 increase would not be enough."

NINE CHILDREN ARE BORN TO LOCAL MOTHER

Yesterday, January 24, she gave birth to nine children. That's right, nine, healthy children, the last of whom arrived in the world at 12:30 p.m.

Asked what she thoufht about the new family, today, Bunny looked mighty proud. "You realize," she barked, "that I am the only Daly City mother who has given birth to so many children, all at once, that is."

Bunny has still to name her brood. She would appreciate some help.

If you can name nine children, drop into the Daly City Pet Shop, 6277 Mission. There, Bunny, a large, short haired dog, will be glad to take advice on names.

Three Jeff High Grads Join Navy

Three young men from Daly City area have enlisted in the Navy during the past week, it was announced today by Chief Walter H. Hallfarth, of the San Mateo Navy Recruiting Station.

They are: Alfred Edward Salogga, 37 Rice street; Reinhold Tage Peterson, 683 Hanover street; and Clement James Faber, 811 87th St., Colma .

All the boys are graduates of Jefferson High School, and this is the first enlistment for all three.

4-YEAR-OLD BOY TAKES 50 ASPIRIN

No one is certain whether 4-year-old James Holt had a headache Wednesday morning, but he took 50 aspirin tablets, one after the other.

Rushed to Junipero Serra hospital, James had his stomach pumped clean of the aspirin. His condition is reported as normal today.

Father Ray Daly Assigned To OLPH

Father Raymond Daly has been assigned as assistant pastor at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, it was announced today.

With his arrival at OLPH last Wednesday, Father Daly assumed the position left vacant by Father Adrian McKennaa who is now assistant pastor at Queen of All Saint's Parish in Concord.

Father Daly comes to OLPH from Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church in Redwood City.

PRESERVE DEMOCRACY AT HOME

Possibly the last vestige of real democracy can be found in the operation of city governments under 100,000 population.

National and giant city government has been removed from the people, largely through the modern, technical age which demands more and more centralization.

Democracy has become "second hand" on anything but a local basis. Today, to get the facts about large city and national government we must depend on the opinions of the commentators, the speeches of the politicians, and the end results of national and city policy.

It is in the smaller cities, such as Daly City, where the citizens can really practice democracy.

Here, the man on the street can have first hand knowledge of his city councilmen, his city officials. With nothing more than a passing interest in city affairs, he can judge the validity of actions taken, or not taken, by his city council. Here he can't shift the responsibility of knowing the facts to anyone but himself.

Despite this condition, most residents of Daly City won't take the time to take an interest in the government that daily shapes their future. Ask the average man in the street to name the five city councilmen, to tell you when they meet, to discuss what they have done over the past month, and he will reply with a shrug and a "who knows, who cares" attitude.

This is evident at city council meetings (which, by the way, are held the second and fourth Monday of every month). Rarely is there anyone present but the councilmen, a few city officials, and a representative of The Record.

Little wonder, then, that the council can honestly claim it doesn't know the wishes of the public it represents. Under the present circumstances they must pass laws which they hope will meet with the general approval of the citizens.

No government can act for the benefit of the majority when it is operating in a vacuum. Democracy can not function in a vacuum.

Attend your Daly City council meetings. Show an active interest in city affairs. Do your bit to preserve the last vestige of democracy.

HOW IT LOOKS FROM A CORNER

By BILL KATZ

Women will forgive anything but men.

A case in point can be found in the "Letters To the Editor" department this week. The vitriolic, emotional letter comes from a reader who takes us to task for our views on women and government, as expounded from this corner last week.

Our critic accuses us of a Freudian slip . . . in a word she blames our rational viewpoint of women on women. She asserts we are swayed by emotion, because of domestic troubles and a bad liver.

Fair Charge

While we are in a relatively happy state of health and con-

She May Be "Lucky" ----

But She Was Missfortune To A Sailor

A gal whose name was "Lucky" proved to be nothing but bad luck Sunday for a hapless sailor who learned too late that some women "just ain't no good."

The sailor's name was Carl Christiansen. He had landed here Sunday, and was a mighty lonely fellow. Seeking companionship "spiritual" joy, he dropped into a San Francisco pub late Sunday evening.

Two drinks away, and a "good looking babe" saddled up to the corner of the bar where Christiansen was weeping in his beer.

"What's the matter," she asked.

Friendship

"I am lonely," the sailor replied.

Four drinks later the conversation had advanced to the point where the maiden told the sailor her name . . . "The fellows call me 'Lucky,' " she modestly said.

The sailor wasn't certain, but six or eight drinks beyond this revelation, "Lucky" introduced him to another gentleman friend and his date. The four soon became close "friends."

When the bar closed its doors, the quartet headed for an automobile owned by "Lucky's" gentleman friend. They poured into the machine and drove out the Skyline boulevard. Just beyond the Olympic club the car turned off onto a dirt road.

By this time "Lucky" and the sailor were the closest of friends . . . so close in fact that the sailor didn't see anything wrong in getting out of the car when "Lucky" so requested.

No Gentleman

Stepping out of the back seat, he was met by the gentleman from the front seat, who by now had tied a handkerchief over his face.

"Give me all your dough," the gentleman demanded.

"I have no money," said the sailor. And seeing the would-be robber had no gun, the sailor beat a tactful retreat (in fact, he ran) away from the gal called "Lucky," and her two friends.

Running into an establishment on Skyline boulevard, the sailor caled Daly City police.

Drive-In Theatre Robbed Of $957

Police today are searching for two masked bandits who held up a cashier at the Geneva Drive-In Theatre south of Colma Friday night, and escaped with $957.

Holding a revolver on cashier Velle Peterson, the two men told her to turn her head and keep it turned. They then scooped up currency from under the counter and money from the cash register.

The cashier did not turn around until another automobile drove up for tickets to the show. Consequently, she did not see how they escaped.

The cashier told Sheriffs Robert Cole and Jack Hosford that both men were armed, probably with automatics.

nubiality, we believed it fair to investigate her charge that our assumption was personal. Consequently, we queried a few friends, women, and readers on last week's hypothesis that the opposite sex is dominated by emotion.

The outcome of this scientific research was alarming. We promptly discarded all answers from the distaff side, for their replies were one and the same: "What's wrong; having trouble at home?"

Odd, but no woman can approach a question like this without inadvertently referring to her own life where the poor sweetheart or bread winner, for fear of a tongue lashing, never speaks out. Consequently, the women, dominated by emotion, is unable to rationally imagine a man's scientific interest in her "mind" unless (unlike her hubby or sweetheart) he has a bad liver, or a nagging wife.

Chip Away

In a word, a man who dares to chip away at the pedestal upon which women hop, is quite miserable. A woman, emotion bound, fails to comprehend that she is anything short of a goddess.

But back to our quiz. Following are a few of the points upon which every man ("Gad, don't use my name," they pleaded) more or less agreed:

Whizz-Flop

1. Men are agreed the distaff side may be a whizz in mathematics, but rarely can understand he makes only $250 a month, and when she spends $300 the books won't balance.

2. Women are intelligent, within limits. They can read, but rarely get beyond the pages of the popular women's magazines. They can appreciate drama, but only so long as it is limited to "soap box" operas. They can write, but rarely anything but checks.

3. Men enjoy women's company, although women rarely understand a conversation to be more than a monologue.

4. Most women are too fat. They talk of reducing, but defy science to prove that a pound of candy, or a rib steak has callories.

Finer Sports

5. Women enjoy sports, although they usually define "sport" as a type of dangerous, but interesting man; or a verbal duel around a bridge table.

6. Women expect equal rights with men, but are shocked when a man accepts them as equals. A "cad" is a term for a man foolish enough to believe a woman, as an equal, should not have preference in a streetcar, on the highway, or in sharing the expenses of a "date."

7. Most men agree a woman's place is in the home, although women believe a man's place is in the doghouse.

And, so, ad infinitum. There are as many logical reasons for the assumption that women are irrational, as illogical women.

Oh Where Is The Connecting St.?

Let's Get On

Now, under the assumption that the planning commission had accepted the alternate plan for a street, the school board early this month wrote to the commissioners asking them to abandon White street so the board can get on with the new school.

At this point the commissioners changed the words in the chorus, and said they would not give up White street until the first plan (the one running adjacent to the school) was accepted.

Meanwhile, to add to the disonanance, there is a group in Broadmoor that is strongly opposed to any street. They will be given a voice at a public hearing when the school board and commissioners finally decide just where the street is to be located.

He's Amazed

At this point, the leader of the school board "chorus," James Snell, superintendent of schools, would like to know what music the commissioners are reading.

"Frankly, I am amazed. I was working under the assumption that the position of the street had already been decided upon, and all that was needed was a public meeting," Snell said today, commenting on the commissioner's action.

It appeared, today, that if any real harmony is to be achieved, if any street is ever to go in, that someone had best settle the question once and for all . . . where, oh where, is the street to go.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

January 27: Julia Padreddi, 108 Moltke; Carolyn Fuchs, rt. 1, box 433, Colma.

January 30: Dave Stoddart, 535 MacArthur drive; Mrs. J. Wiltse, 530 Sixht avenue.

Two Exceptions

We note, however, one exception—our wife.

And there is a second . . . the most rational, intelligent woman we ever met.

She was a midget, too interested in philosophy to read women's magazines; too busy smoking cigars to talk; too short to reach a radio, or TV dial; too interested in French bathing suits to get fat; to different to expect equal rights with anyone; too friendly to talk about women; too much at home in a library to want a home; and too much like a remarkable, god-sent creature to remain a midget.

One day the midget, which was our youthful "ideal woman," grew up and took flight from our idealistic mind. We haven't seen her since, although we sometimes spy her laughing eyes in those of our wife and the eyes of other dear ladies, we call our friends.

Meet Your City Officials

A. J. Bodien . . . A Public Servant Who Has Discovered The Key To Youth

A. J. BODIEN, about 1933. He may be grayer, but he is just as young.

Skyrocketing to the top of the best seller list recently was a book on how to stay young and live longer. Arthur J. Bodien, Daly City works superintendent, admits he hasn't read the book. "Why should I?" he frankly asks. "I don't need to learn anything about longevity."

The truth is, many a man around city hall and Daly City has come to Bodien to get a few pointers on how he maintains a slim waist line, a shock of pearl gray hair, a ready smile and enough energy to recently be the star dancer in a party at The Club Casino. Bodien isn't telling his age, but everyone knows he is old enough to remember with clarity the turn of the century, and the great San Francisco fire. In fact, well before the whistles blew to welcome 1900, Bodien was a familiar figure on Sixth and Market where he carried on a lively business selling newspapers.

Secret Told

"Boy, I owe my youth to a love of people," he recently explained. "All my life I have tried to make new friends." A familiar twinkle shown in his eyes . . . "And a good many of those friends, even today, have been women."

However, the stellar attraction on the distaff side for Bodien has been one Agnes McGinney. Some 38 years ago he changed her last name to his. They have been happy years, Bodien asserts, with the usual number of quarrels. And there were no more than the "usual number" despite the fact that Bodien traces back his ancestors to France and his wife can brag of Irish decent.

Cut Short

Bodien's unsounded brag that he will live to 100 (and still be dancing) was almost cut short April 18, 1906. It was 5 o'clock in the morning, and he was turning over in bed to get the last wink before rising to put in another day as a machinist with a San Francisco firm. Just as he was pulling the blanket up a faint rumble sounded through the house. A second later the house gave a violent shutter and jumped half way off its foundations. A picture of Bodien's father, directly over his head, completely turned around to face the wall.

Mad Rush

Grabbing his oldest clothes, Bodien rushed for the door, and made the street just behind his mother and sister. One glance at the other homes on 15th and Howard was enough . . . the family made a dash for safety.

A few minutes later San Francisco's great earthquake was over, just in time to introduce the great fire.

The next day civic authorities dynamited the remains of the Bodien home. The family headed south. Thus it was that Bodien became a resident in the Daly City area.

Within a few days, Bodien and his mother were at work building a new home . . . one of the first in Daly City. At night Bodien framed the home, while during the day his mother nailed the shingles to the forms. It might have been after the pioneer days in history, but in spirit the family was proving that pioneers never die.

Joins Firemen

No more than a year after coming to this area, Bodien joined the then new Volunteer Fire Department. He has come up through the ranks of the department, and today is the last charter member still in active service. This isn't just an idle boast. Bodien, an assistant fire chief, hasn't missed a fire in this city for the past 16 years.

When the city was incorporated in 1911, the young fireman took a leading role in urging the move. He became so interested in city affairs that in 1912 he ran for a position on the second city council. Like many another young politician, he lost . . . by four votes.

Runs Again

Making more and more friends, Bodien decided to run again in 1923. "No one asked me," he said, killing the usual answer given by politicians when asked "How did you get into politics?"

There might not have been a great call by the public for his services, but that year Bodien won his seat on the council. He held that position with the well wishes of the voters until 1933 when he resigned to take over his present job as superintendent of public works.

Leads Issue

Strangely enough, back in 1913, when the population was struggling toward the 500 mark, Bodien had been one of the leading proponents for a city water system. Largely through his efforts, and those of other far sighted residents, a 100,000 bond issue passed to give Daly City one of the most modern and efficient water departments in the state. Little did he suspect then, that 20 years later he would head the department he worked to organize.

Like many another man born in the south of Market street district of San Francisco, Bodien got no farther than graduation from the old Lincoln Grammar School. At 13 he was out supporting the family as a cash boy at the "White House." Possibly these early years of disappointment, work and grief have made him appreciate fully the trials and tribulations of his fellow man, and given him an insight into understanding character.

Truth Visible

The truth of this can be attested to by his many friends, and his ability to ride out the turmoils of city hall politics. He has served with six mayors, and many of them before his position was protected under civil service.

When not actively at work, Bodien takes time to fish and tell the appropriate stories about the sea monsters he catches at his country home at Black Point in Marin County.

Another of his famous hobbies is collecting material for what he hopes someday will be a permanent historical collection for Daly City. He already has many valuable pictures and relics that tell the history of early Daly City better than words. This collection is now at his home at 26 Rice street, but someday Bodien fondly hopes it will have an honored place in the new Community Center.

Active Official

As possibly the most active city official in the hostory of Daly City, Bodien belongs to a score of organizations from a Life Membership in the Daly City Rod & Gun Club to a former president of the Brass & Chandeleer Workers Union No. 158. He also has played an important role in county politics, and is now serving his third term on the county planning commission.

It was natural, then, that two years before the bombing of Pearl Harbor he took an active interest in civilian defense and was instrumental in establishing the Daly City Disaster Council which later gained state-wide recognition.

Today, as ever, Bodien's principal desire is to make Daly City one of the largest, leading cities in San Mateo County. Residents can be certain the congenial works superintendent will continue to do his best to make this dream realized.

FBI Keeping Eye On Draft Dodgers

Mr. Harry M. Kimbal, Special Agent in Charge of the San Francisco Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced today that the Department of Justice stated the FBI is currently receiving more than 2,200 cases per month alleging violations of the Selective Service Act of 1948.

Wilful draft delinquents are being vigorously sought by Special Agents of the FBI.

Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI, said Mr. Kimball, emphasized that the primary purpose of investigations involving Selective Service is to secure compliance with the law rather than to prosecute violators. The aim is to provide personnel for the Armed Services.

Violations

Mr. Hoover disclosed that during the last six months the FBI has received for investigative attention nearly 9,000 cases involving alleged violations of the Act. Registration, induction, or compliance with the Act have been effected in more than one-third of all cases received for investigation. Since passage of the Act, a total of 170 convictions resulted in jail terms, fines, or other penalties through December 31, 1950. More than 300 other registrants were prosecuted for other Federal offenses or turned over to Federal and State authorities for other crimes.

Watch The Law

In urging strict compliance with the draft laws, Mr. Hoover suggested that all eligible men fully acquaint themselves with the provisions of the Act. Many technical violations are caused, he said, by lack of appreciation and complete understanding of the requirements. The FBI in each instance conducts painstaking investigations to locate individuals who have become delinquent with their local boards for various reasons, such as failure to:

(1) Register when required.
(2) Fill out and return questionnaire promptly.
(3) Keep Local Board advised of current address.
(4) Report changes in family or occupation status.
(5) Report for examination and induction.

New Old-Age Pension Proposal Presented To State

JAN. 25—(CNS) — A measure which Assemblyman Robert Kirkwood, of Santa Clara county, hopes may find enough support to be used as a possible substitute for the George McLain pension increase proposal, was tossed into the legislative hopper today.

Kirkwood said the measure would eliminate a flat grant to the needy aged, and fix their old age assistance payments on a budget basis, with a maximum of $80 per month.

Further, he said the measure proposes the elimination of relatives responsibility, but the substitution of an agreement with the recipient of aid that no property will be transferred and that the state shall have a claim against a recipient's estate.

The proposed sliding scale of old age assistance grants, Kirkwood said, would not increase the total amount of old age assistance paid, despite the fact that the maximum would be raised to $80 per month.

"This measure," Kirkwood said, "is introduced solely as my own idea of a workable system for providing aid to the needy aged. I do not know whether it will find support in the legislature, but I believe it would be a good substitute for the McClain proposal, which would cost the state a great deal of money."

State Patrol Ready

Highway Patrol Readies Plan To Meet Civilian Defense Needs In Case Of War

The California Highway Patrol will be prepared to carry out its responsibilities in the event of a disaster or emergency caused by enemy or subversive action, Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson said today.

Orders to district and squad commanders directing them to revise and bring up to date disaster plans on their levels have been issued, he stated. Those plans, he explained, will be coordinated with the State Civil Defense and Disaster Relief Plan and incorporated in the over-all plan of the Patrol headquarters in Sacramento in effect since 1949.

Designated

The communication center of the Highway Patrol at Sacramento has been designated as the interim state information center by the State Disaster Council and the Office of Civil Defense, the Commissioner pointed out.

"Traffic control in the unincorporated areas of the state is the primary responsibility of the Highway Patrol in the event of an emergency or catastrophe," Commissioner Peterson declared. The Patrol's planning has a four-fold purpose, he stated, as follows:

.1 To provide a plan for the effective utilization of Patrol manpower, equipment and experience during periods of disaster or enemy or subversive action.

Coordination

2. To establish a functional structure within the Patrol for preparation and coordination of civil defense and disaster plans.

3. To provide effective liaison and coordination with the civil defense organization and other agencies during both the planning and operational phases.

4. To utilize the normal command structure of the Patrol through all types of operations.

Basic Policy

In formulating a disaster plan the basic policy of the Highway Patrol is, according to Commissioner Peterson, "to render the utmost aid to law enforcement and other involved agencies in conformance with the provisions of the State Civil Defense and Disaster Relief Plan."

The Commissioner ordered field plans be coordinated and integrated with those of civil defense organizations, law enforcement agencies and military authorities at all civil defense levels. He further directed that the plans take into account the traffic problems created by mass movements induced by hysteria, military and emergency vehicle priority routes, rerouting of traffic, necessary evacuations, personnel and equipment and assistance that may be required for other agencies.

Plans Reviewed

The plans formulated by the field offices must be regularly reviewed and revised as necessary, he said. Other basic points to be incorporated in the planning include communications, liaison ,office facilities, traffic and highway use and the maintenance of maps showing routes of emergency and military priority travel, alternate routes, restrictive highway portions, etc.

Ten Highway Patrol regions, comprising groups of county squad areas, have been formed to match the mutual aid regions established by the State Civil Defense and Disaster Plan. Patrol officers have also been named as coordinators in each of the regions.

Advanced First Aid Courses Slated

The residents of your community are demanding First Aid training—they are ready to do their part—they want to learn how to protect their loved ones and help their community in time of need.

The rest depends on you. You have been given your training by the Red Cross. Now will you return it by attending a First Aid Instructor course the next five weeks.

Harold Bellows is giving his time to instruct any who hold a Standard and Advanced certificate issued within the last three years or Instructor certificates in First Aid issued since 1942 so that you in turn may pass your knowledge on to others.

The first meeting of the First Aid Instructor course will be held Friday, January 26, at the Taylor Blvd. School in Millbrae, Room 173, from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. and each succeeding Friday for five weeks.

Get behind this meeting and prove you can meet the demand. Talk First Aid—each First Aid—be ready for any emergency.

STAMP OUT JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Many of the pin ball machines in town would go out of operation if it were not for the kids. They ply the machines with nickels during the daylight hours and often well after the curfew.

Now there may be nothing wrong with pinball machines for adults, but what are kids doing playing the machines?

The Recreation Department reports that not too long ago they put in several improvements at a local park. During the night some pranksters did their best to tear out the swings and remove other equipment. What are youngsters doing out after midnight, when this event occurred?

Visit any of the local establishments on "top of the hill" after the curfew. There you will find at least a score of youngsters, many of them in their early teens. Is the principal business district any place for boys and girls after 10 p. m.?

These are but a few of the more fragrant and obvious signs of juvenile delinquency in Daly City. There are many more.

Who is to blame? First, and foremost, the children's parents. Second an apathetic public that ignores the very existence of pin ball machines and other such devices that have a fascination for the young set.

We would advise all to pay a little more attention to the kids...they deserve all the help they can get.

YOUR RED CROSS IS LIFE INSURANCE

It didn't surprise anyone. When the Red Cross recently held a meeting to recruit help for their coming funds drive in Daly City, only five people volunteered.

Out of a population of close to 15,000 that is a pretty fair record. In fact it is so "fair" that the Red Cross reports Daly City at about the bottom in San Mateo County for volunteer help.

Yet the scores of people who failed to appear would be the first to call on the Red Cross in time of need.

With the clouds of war hovering over every home in Daly City, the Red Cross, more than ever before, may be called on soon by each and everyone of the local residents. It will be the Red Cross which will lead the vanguard of help to those victims of a possible A-bomb, or other form of attack. Today it is the Red Cross that is doing its best to train hundreds of residents in first-aid.

But to help, the Red Cross must have funds. To get these funds they must have the cooperation of all.

Won't you lend a helping hand? The Red Cross needs volunteers to collect funds. If you are willing to help in a drive today which may save the lives of your loved ones tomorrow, contact Red Cross officials immediately.

LET'S BACK A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Last week The Record advocated a chamber of commerce for Daly City.

Readers have confirmed our belief that a chamber would be a real asset to the community. Many of the local merchants are in agreement that a chamber of commerce would save them thousands of dollars each year.

Several city officials have also approved the idea.

What remains to be done?

Someone, preferably the city, or the Daly City business men should take the initiative and examine the possibility, pro and con, of setting up a chamber of commerce in Daly City.

This is easier said than done. So, readers why not give a helping hand? Remind your merchants of the benefits of a chamber of commerce; write your Daly City council asking for some action; talk it over with your neighbors...let The Record know what you think about such a chamber.

Folks, this is your city. Do your best to improve the community in which you live. Advocate a chamber of commerce.

NICKEL-BEARING VARIETIES

In the United States food processing equipment, including beverage and bottling machinery, and canning, dairy and meat packing equipment, have required large tonnages of stainless steels with pratically all of it the nickel-bearing varieties. The growing favor of concentrated and frozen foods, and especially fruits and fruit juices, has required the installation of a great deal of sainless steel food processing equipment. The brewing industry has also seen some recent very large installations of stainless steel fermentation tanks which used over a million pounds of stainless steel for one brewery.

PURE NICKEL COINS

During the early part of 1950, India continued the issue of coinage in pure nickel and cupro-nickel, a program which had been carried on since the end of the war.

The Burmese Government in 1950 issued pure nickel in the half and quater rupee coins, making a total of 126 pure nickel coins in forty-three countries since the adoption of the first pure nickel coinage by Switzerland in 1881.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

by Henry C. MacArthur

On the problem of reorganizing state government to obtain some semblance of modern administration, the state legislature now has a report before it into which the salons can sink their teeth and actually do a job.

The report was handed to the state Senate by Senator Hugh P. Donnelly, of Stanislaus county, who with Senators Luther E. Gibson, Vallejo; Gerald O'Gara, San Francisco; Jack B. Teney, Los Angeles and former Senator W. P. Rich, of Marysville, made an overall survey of the state's organization during the interim.

10 Departments

Briefly, the report envisions an ultimate set-up of ten state departments, all with directors responsible to the governor. The multiplicity of boards, commissions, bureaus and other units of government, with the exception, of course, of constitutional offices, would be combined under the ten directors.

One of the committee's principal recommendations is the fixing of lines of authority to give directors real administrative control over their departments and the divisions which would compose the unit.

Leak Control

At the present time, many department directors, notably the director of professional and vocational standards, have no control over some of the bureaus within their departments. The director of professional and vocational standards operates only two of twenty-three units in his department.

Similarly, commissions do the administrative work for two divisions in the Department of Natural Resources. These are the divisions of fish and game, and beaches and parks.

Similar situations exist all through state government, and the committee's solution to this problem is to strip all boards and commissions of administrative power. But it would not abolish them, but merely leave them in an advisory capacity.

Long Range

The committee terms this a "long range plan" for reorganization. It does not contemplate the accomplishment of its recommendations at this session of the legislature. But it does contemplate a start, and therefore will have bills to put both fish and game and beaches and parks in strictly an advisory capacity. Additional improvements, such as providing that members of the California Employment Stabilization Commission do not serve as director and deputy director of the Department of employment, are also suggested.

Obstacles

One of the obstacles of the committee anticipates will be the inclusion of top administrative jobs under civil service. Under the present system, scores of jobs are exempt, and this fact, it is pointed out, has been one of the causes of establishing small, unintegrated units of government.

To give directors more leeway in selecting their own men, the committee will sponsor a constitutional amendment giving each department two, instead of one exempt civil service position.

Extensive revision of statutes and the constitution, it is believed, will be necessary before the legislature can even begin to carry out the committee's recommendations even if it finds them desirable.

San Mateo County Highways $59,000,000 Below Standard For Improvements

JAN. 25—(CNS)—Deficiencies in highways located in San Mateo county as of January 1, 1950, total $59,130,000, according to a report submitted to Senator Randolf Collier, chairman of the Senate Interim Committee on streets, highways and bridges, by C. H. Purcell, state director of public works.

This compares to a deficiency reported in 1946 of $30,290,000, the report said.

During the five year period from 1947, the division of highways has either spent or allocated $9,498,000 to the county to bring the highway system up to what it considers standard.

Deficiencies Told

The division of highways describes deficiencies as inadequate traffic capacities, structural weaknesses, applying alike to highway roadbed and bridges, and the presence of traffic hazards of the highways.

Listed as projects which would correct the present deficiencies in the county are the following:

State route 2, 19.9 miles multilane, San Francisco county line to Santa Clara county line, $19,440,00.

State route 55, 18.8 miles multilane, San Francisco county line to route 105 (Half Moon Bay road), $5,592,000.

State route 55, 22.8 miles grade and surface, route 105 to Santa Clara county line, $975,000.

Many Projects

State route 56, 14.5 miles grade and surface, Santa Cruz county line to Rockaway Beach, $2,331,000.

State route 56, 8.5 miles multilane, Rockaway Beach to San Francisco county line, $2,820,000.

State route 68, 18.2 miles multilane, San Francisco county line to Santa Clara county line, $19,-758,000.

State route 105, 2.6 miles grade and surface, route 56 to west city limits of San Mateo, $877,000.

State route 105, 0.7 miles multilane, west city limits of San Mateo to route 2, $269,000.

State route 107, 9.8 miles grade and surface, route 55 to route 2, $2,046,000.

State route 107. 1.0 miles multilane, route 55 to route 68, $1,692,-000.

State route 229, 0.6 miles multilane, route 68 to route 2, $1,099,-000.

Total 119.7 miles.

PG&E TO BOOST GAS RATES 11.5 PER CENT

This week the Public Utilities Commission authorized the Pacific Gas & Electric Company to jump its rates about 11.5 per cent.

This is to result in an additional $7,000,000 revenue for the company in the supplying of natural gas.

The interim rate is to become effective February 18, and apply pending determination of permanent rate increases asked by the company.

New Congressional Seats Discussed By County Demos

The joining of San Mateo County and an adjacent assembly district of San Francisco to obtain one of the new California congressional seats in Washington was indicated today as the probable recommendation of the San Mateo County Democratic Central Committee by Marion H. Kent, chairman.

Assembling in Half Moon Bay Thursday evening, the committeemen indicated they favored the San Francisco move but decided to postpone final action until their February 15 meeting to be held at the Coral Reef in Millbrae.

At that time, Fred Trott, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee will appear as the main speaker and will be handed the committee's final recommendation, which will also be forwarded immediately to the proper Sacramento officials.

Agnes Booe, editor and publisher of the Sacramento Newsletter, spoke at the Half Moon Bay session and stated that no definite congressional redistricting action had yet taken form in the capital city.

Larry Watts, Half Moon Bay postmaster, welcomed the committeemen to the coastside. Mr. and Mrs. Al Holgerson acted as hosts. Leading a large San Jose delegation were Roy L. (Budd) Smith, president of the San Jose Democratic Club and R. O. Del Mutolo, attorney.

Polio Drive Near Finale

The 1951 March of Dimes closes in our county this week, and returns soon will be tabulated by local volunteer workers of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Have we made the grade? Will polio aid go on, undiminished?

Until a final count is made, our citizens cannot know whether the depleted treasuries of the National Foundation have been restored for the job ahead. But additional contributions will be accepted at campaign headquarters for some days, since the need this year is so great.

"Every dime and dollar given by our local people is vital," a spokesman for the local March of Dimes committee said.

"Last year, the second worst polio year on record, the National Foundation paid approximately $20,000,000 for patient care alone, with many millions of dollars worth of bills still to be met. This huge responsibility came on the heels of an expenditure of $38,-000,000 for the same purpose during the two preceding years.

"Consequently, it is urgent that our county reach an all-time March of Dimes high this year," he concluded.

Affairs Of State

Governor Calls For Better C. D.

The Governor made several minor appointments and one major one, Peter E. Mitchel, of Sacramento, to the public utilities commission; said he knew nothing of Senator Randolph Collier's proposal for a two cent increase in the gasoline tax, and therefore, had no comment on it; reiterated his stand that California needs more and faster preparation for civilian defense.

The Legislature

The assembly adopted a resolution for adjournment of the first half of the 1951 legislative session at 10 p.m., Jan. 23, which is adopted, would make this one of the shortest first sessions in history; indicated no action would be taken at the first half of the session on either George McLain's proposal to increase old age pensions, or on the cross-filing petition which would abolish the practice of candidates running on two party tickets.

The assembly passed a bill which would give state employees a two-step raise for the last six months of the present fiscal year, instead of a one-step raise, as proposed by the state personnel board. This measure would cost taxpayers of the state approximately three and a half million dollars.

The senate adopted a measure putting new life in the rural electrification program.

The senate also referred the application for lobbyist status of "artie" Samish to a committee to hear the pros and cons of whether or not California's No. 1 lobbyist should be permitted recognition at this session of legislature.

The Departments

Public works transmitted a highway deficiency estimate to the Senate Interim committee on streets and highways, totaling three billion, sixteen million dollars, fish and game announced its 1951 fish ang game regulations.

Executive Says Newspaper Ads Important To All

Newspapers will get more advertising from Jolly Time Pop Corn in 1951 than ever before, Howard C. Smith, president of the American Pop Corn Company, announced this week.

"Our new 1951 advertising schedules call for greatly increased use of newspaper space," he said.

Mr. Smith, whose firm is recognized as the world's largest producers and packers of pop corn, said their decision was based on 35 years of experience in nationwide advertising.

"Throughout the years we have found that year in and year out the local newspaper gives the advertiser real value for his money. This is important not only to the advertiser," he said, "but also to the people who buy his products. For when advertising is wisely used it actually helps lower prices. Effective advertising creates volume sales, and volume sales make it possible to produce goods on a mass production basis at a lower manufacturing cost.

"Advertising has undergone many changes since we first put Jolly Time Pop Corn on the market 35 years ago" he pointed out. Many new methods and media have been developed, but the American newspapers, serving the people in their local communities, continue to be sound, dependable means of communication and distribution of news, entertainment and information of all kinds. This, is my opinion, is a tribute to the American newspaper publishers, for if they had not served their readers so well they would cease to exist. But, in spite of all of their competition from other media, they continue to grow, and the people continue to rely on their local papers as their major sources of news as well as information about the products they want to use in their homes."

Red Cross Meet Slated February 8

Another meeting to recruit chairmen for the February 15 Red Cross fund drive in Daly City will be held Thursday, February 8.

The meeting will combine business with pleasure as there will be a "donut dunk" in the afternoon. The meeting place is to be announced next week.

Meanwhile, those interested in assisting the Red Cross in its drive for funds are asked to contact either Mrs. Marion McKaskle at PLaza 5-2574, or Joseph Lewkowitz at Daly City Super Service station.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Reds Launch Offensive in Korea; U.S. Works on Japanese Treaty; Army Calls for 80,000 Draftees

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

North Korean and Chinese Communist troops concentrated for another blow on U. N. forces below the 38th parallel. Chief concentration points were at Yonchon (1) and northwest of Seoul (2). A Red attack (3) northeast of Kumchon, pushed back the South Koreans more than a mile. Red patrols were near Kaesong (4). South Korean troops fought a preliminary battle near Hyon (5). Reds were also massed north of Chunchon (6).

KOREA:

The Story Repeated

The story of the Korean battle seemed to repeat itself. Forced to withdraw from North Korea after pushing the Communists out of South Korea and almost to the Manchurian border, U. N. forces received the full force of Chinese and North Korean troops as they plunged south of the 38th parallel.

U. N. troops gave ground and further retreats appear in store for them. The main feature of the attack was the overwhelming numbers of Chinese and North Koreans rushing U. N. defense positions. At least 200,000 men were thrown into the first attack.

The Communist plan for the conquest of South Korea was to separate the eastern and western sections of the defense line, isloate them and then destroy them at will.

Meanwhile, observers who recently returned from Korea report the morale of the soldier at the battlefront much better than that on the homefront.

Americans at home were pictured as frightened, frustrated, and swept with recurrent waves of defeatism and despair. The men in battle were pictured as neither frightened nor discouraged.

There was no criticism of American leadership in the war or criticism of the fighting ability of any nation's troops.

ARMY:

New Call Issued

The army called for 80,000 draftees in March, raising total draft quotas to 450,000 since the Korean outbreak. Eighty thousand had already been scheduled for January and February.

With the armed forces building toward a manpower total of some 3½ million as rapidly as possible, the army anticipated a combat strength equivalent to 24 divisions when the current expansion goal is reached next July 1.

An infantry division numbers 18,-000 men and is a self contained fighting unit with supporting weapons such as tanks and artillery. At the beginning of the Korean conflict the army had 10 divisions, only one at full war strength It had 11 regular divisions, with four national guard divisions and two guard regimental combat teams (usually 5,000 men) as of January 1.

Selective Service officials reported 217,000 men had been delivered to the army up to January.

TAXES:

Higher in 1951

With the new congress in session, President Truman was expected to ask for more taxes at any moment to meet the mounting cost of the nation's defense.

Although the size of the new tax program was not disclosed, one adminisration official reported the President would try to put the government as nearly as possible on a pay-as-you-go basis. The program, however, will include higher personal and corporation levies.

It seems unlikely that a new tax program can bring expenditures and receipts into balance because spending for the fiscal year 1951 may reach $75,000,000,000. The present tax program, including the excess-profits tax, will yield revenues of only about $45,000,000,000.

Generals Wait

Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, chief of staff, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur are shown keeping a somber vigil at Haneda airport for the arrival of the body of Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, late commanding officer of the 8th U. S. army, who was killed in an accident in Korea. Walker's body was being sent to the U. S. for burial in Arlington cemetery.

JAPAN:

U.S. Plans Treaty

The United States made it clear, if in a round-about way, that Japan will get a peace treaty. The U. S. handed Russia a note that said in effect that this country was going to negotiate a treaty—without Russia if necessary.

The important item in the note from the American viewpoint was the paragraph that stated: The United States believes it is reasonable for Japan, upon conclusion of a peace treaty, to make arrangements for self-defense which could "include provision for the stationing in Japan of troops of the United States and other nations."

In other words, the U. S. made it clear that Japan would be allowed to rearm and that this country has every intention of keeping Jaran in the democratic column.

The note let fly with a haymaker by stating that rearming Japan was necessary because "irresponsible militarism has not been driven from the world."

The note told the Russians that the Formosa question must be settled in the light of the U.N. charter, "the obligations of which prevail over any other international agreement."

This appeared to be a diplomatic way of telling the Soviet that the U. S. does not consider itself bound to hand Formosa over to the Chinese Communists whose armies are fighting U.N. forces in Korea.

CASUALTIES:

Total at 38,325

As of January 1 the army had announced casualties in the Korean fighting totaling 38,325. That was an increase of almost 2,000 over the previous casualty list.

The number of dead mounted to 6,432, including 5,742 killed in action, 684 who died of wounds and six dead among those who had been reported missing.

There were 27,912 wounded, including the 684 who later died of their injuries. The number of missing were listed at 4,753.

Of the total, the army suffered 32,066 casualties, the marines 5,-524, the navy 429 and the air force 306.

MARCH OF DIMES

March of Dimes Fund Campaign

The 1951 March of Dimes campaign began Monday throughout the United States as a massive attack against the only epidemic disease known to man that is still on the increase—a disease that in the last three years has stricken more than 100,000 people and cost the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis an unprecedented $53,000,000 for patient-care alone.

In 1950 March of Dimes funds had assisted in some measure more than 54,000 polio victims at a cost of $20,000,000. The national fund at the moment is at the lowest point it has been since the organization was founded in 1938, officials reported.

The foundation reported four out of every five of the stricken needed —and received—financial assistance.

BIG FOUR:

Conference Plan

Some weeks ago the United States, Britain, and France proposed that another big four conference be held in an effort to settle the many pressing world problems. After long weeks of waiting, the Russians replied.

Officials would not reveal just what was in the Kremlin reply. It was evident, however, that the western powers were disappointed and that a big-four meeting was not closer than when it was first proposed.

It was believed that Russia was not prepared for any unqualified discussion of the many galling points of friction between the western democracies and the totalitarian Soviet system.

It was also rumored that Russia wanted the western powers to accept the Prague declaration which served notice that the Communist led nations of eastern Europe would not tolerate rearmament of western Germany.

Russia was also reported to have taken the stand that Communist China would be represented before any discussion of the explosive situation in the far east could be undertaken.

No one in his right mind could believe that the United States would accept any of the conditions. Thus the conclusion that a big four conference is not likely in the near future.

ACHESON:

Production and Faith

Secretary of State Dean Acheson gave the United States a prescription for 1951—"production and faith".

Acheson, in a radio interview, said we have the power to retaliate against any aggressor who attacks us and our friends and that power cannot be overlooked.

"We expect to make ourselves respected and to deter aggression," he said.

"The prescription which we need today is the prescription which Mr. Churchill gave to England in 1940 —blood and toil, sweat and tears— and may I add, faith—faith in our country, faith that the great task before us can be done and that it will be done."

Acheson's statement was remarkable in that he echoed a growing belief throughout the country. Americans who had been described as frightened and frustrated in 1950 seemed to be settling down quickly to a new year of sacrifice and determination.

The last few months have been called America's darkest hour, but they may be even darker before the United States is fully rearmed and ready to face its enemies.

TRAFFIC:

A War at Home

While American troops were being killed in Korea, Americans at home slaughtered themselves on the highways during the Christmas and New Years' holidays.

Complete tabulations were not complete for the New Years' holiday, but during Christmas there were 724 violent deaths in the United States, 545 of them in traffic mishaps.

The accident rate was more than 100 above the number of persons killed in traffic accidents during the 1949 Christmas holiday. The 1950 toll almost equaled the record of 555 set in 1936.

In the city of Los Angeles alone there were 11 traffic deaths, 900 injured, and a total of 1,084 accidents. It was significant to note that police in that city charged 352 persons with driving while intoxicated and another 1,222 were charged with drunkenness.

Only one state—South Dakota—escaped without a single reported fatality that could be attributed to the Christmas observance.

Witness

Mrs. Ann Moos Remington, ex-wife of former commerce official, William Remington, testified in federal court that seven years ago Remington turned over "top secret" explosives formulas to confessed spy Elizabeth Bentley for transmission to Russia. Remington is being tried for perjury.

MARSHALL:

Let's Go Easy

Secretary of Defense George Marshall warned the nation in the closing days of 1950 to go easy, that "a too rapid attempt at mobilization was apt to delay the ultimate speed" of rearmament.

Marshall said that there is "a tendency to feel that the more rapidly we appropriate billions and the more rapidly men are called into service, the safer we will be." That isn't true, he explained.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

Taking a good look at our town, we can see many new changes, as we begin this new year—one of the most controversial being the parking meters. Wonder how it is that the little woman can remember every item she needs to shop for, but oh!—That penny gimmick! Have a heart, Officer—

* * *

GETTING RE-ACQUAINTED:

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rentsch, being welcomed back to Daly City after an absence of three years' residence in San Leandro. Their family of four, now only two, by the meantime marriage of the elder son and daughter.

* * *

GREETING FROM UNCLE SAM:

Being received by Charlie Henry, former Cubmaster of Broadmoor Village Pack 84. His engagement to Miss Helen Corsello was announced recently, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dan Anderson, also of Broadmoor. No date has been set, as yet, for the nuptials.

* * *

SHADES OF FU MANCHU:

Happily shanghaied to the Chinese sportsman's annual banquet, was none other than John Price, mayor of Colma, who served as Installing Officer.

* * *

A FOND FAREWELL:

A beautiful pen and pencil set was the going-away gift selected, and presented to the Rev. Adrian J. McKenna, of Our Lady of Perpetual Help church, who is being called to another parish. Entertaining at a buffet social, was Mrs. Richard J. Ennis, who on short notice, received over twenty-five guests on this occasion!

* * *

MERGER:

Those two compatriots of field and stream, Jimmie Fox and Ed Nenstiel, are the new joint owners of the Rossi Hardware, on Geneva. Fishing and hunting gear will no doubt abound (as well as the more prosaic and boring items) since Jimmie can show you how to catch 'em, and Ed can tell you what to catch 'em with. Understand they are both solidly behind the new proposed measure which would require sportsmen to prove their ability with rifle or shotgun, thus making it illegal to carry one unless they are capable handlers....This is surely long overdue. . . .

* * *

RED CROSS:

Ladies in nearly every group or organization, are aware of the big part Red Cross plays in emergency, and are busying themselves in various phases of this endeavor. The appeal for blood, being handled by Mrs. Henry Adami, at Woodrow Wilson PTA and Mrs. W. E. Hobbs, Catholic circles, is rapidly gaining headway. Any one who can give, is urgently requested to contact any of these women and they will see to it that you receive transportation to and from the Blood Bank. . . . What could be easier? The Red Cross Drive itself, is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Olan McKaskle, and though the meeting at the City Hall was well attended, it is obvious that more workers will be needed. Why don't you volunteer?

* * *

SMALL TALK:

The Joe Lewkowitz's, whose six children attract as many more, are making room for their new baby daughter—but where? (Too bad Joe is not in the shoe business.)

* * *

BAG AND BAGGAGE:

Broadmoor society is losing two active community members in the person of Robin and Jack Kelleher, who will soon take up residence in Monterey.

* * *

CROSS COUNTRY:

The vivacious Mrs. Harry Grimes, who has a talent for "flying around," will soon enplane for South Bend to pick up a new car. She will then drive to Ft. Benning, Georgia, to visit son Jack, who is in training there. The extra suitcase she is taking gives clue to her plans for the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, where she will be the guest of a former Daly City family—Sounds like nothing but fun!

* * *

V. I. P.:

Many prominent people were on hand at the Eagles' soiree, at which the Daly City Aerie entertained thirteen state dignitaries. On hand to welcome them was Mayor Paul Green. Emceeing was Mrs. Arthur Hayden, and she presented a series of native dancers, who portrayed authentic Phillipine, Japanese and Indo-Chinese dances to the awe and delight of all present.

* * *

AN ITEM FOR THE KIDS:

Local small fry of the Woodrow Wilson school will be overjoyed to know that the teachers will have to go to school themselves, for one day, under the tutelage of Mr. Hugh Falconer, who will conduct a demonstration and workshop. It is presumed they (the teachers, natch) will also get homework to do—The law of retribution, you know!

* * *

SNOWBOUND:

After the holiday whirl in which so many Westlake hostesses did themselves proud, the trend has been toward the more relaxing activities. Among these who are packing skis and shin plasters, for a trek to Sun Valley, are the Verne Williams of Cliffside Drive.

* * *

VERY INFORMAL:

Putting on bibs for dinner were the James Kennedys, the Frank Blums and the Pete Marcovich's, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Green, Edgewood Terrace, last Friday, for informal—Crab Chioppino! Mmmmm.

* * *

BIDS FOR the first annual meeting of the brand new Family Service Agency meeting and dinner, slated for January 25th, at the Villa Chartier, are being received, and by the response will be one of the inspired activities of the year. Guest speaker will be lawyer Ben C. Duniway, who is well known in the field of Social Service, and who is President of the Family and Children's Agency of San Francisco.

* * *

VITAL STATISTICS:

Mrs. Harley Hooker of Muirwood Drive, who welcomed her second son at Childrens' last week, beat the stork with a margin of twenty minutes. Her chauffeur, a neighbor, is still shaking!

* * *

DOWN THE PENINSULA:

Miniature bells and place-mats fashioned of newsprint ,was the original decor followed at the Publicity Luncheon, which was held at the Woodside Pioneer Inn, by the 17th District PTA, January 18. The bells carried out the theme of the Town Crier, which was the very first method of getting the news around. (And is still being used in a quieter, and more feminine way.)

The press was well represented —and rewarded—by the delicious lunch!

Center of alleyes was the attractive young woman, wearing a tunic-type, full skirted dress of unborn calf skin, reliably reported to be the real thing, and no imitation either—

President Claire Sirex charmingly conducted the event.

AN ORCHID FOR the indefatigable Mrs. Henry Adami, as she resumed the Presidency of the Women's Council of Grace Presbyterian Church. Also installed were Mrs. Ankers, vice president; Mrs. Traxler, secretary; and Mrs. A. Carrothers, treasurer.

My favorite quote of the week, by Margaret Whiting—"Don't let springtime be heart-break time—Give to the March of Dimes to fight Polio!"

Stork Shower Given Mrs. Lair

A stork shower honoring Mrs. Clarence Lair of San Diego avenue was given for her January 18.

The affair took place in the home of Mrs. Joseph Fitting, of Trinity Road, Brisbane, and was co-hostessed with Mrs. Stowe Weber Jr. and Mrs. B. Jensen.

Following the arrival of guests, Mrs. Lair opened many lovely gifts for her son, or daughter to come.

A light supper was served later. The table was decorated with simulated daffodils, and a similar theme was carried throughout the home in other decorations.

Guests included:

Mary Fitting and Virginia Brewer of San Francisco; Harriet Van Natta of Hot Springs, California; Lilian Balloti, Mrs. Buser, Mrs. E. Sawyer and Rheo Daniels, of Daly City; Mrs. Roy Learend, Josie Lafarcade; Mrs. Jim Short; Mrs. Ed Lair of Lompoc, Calif.; Mrs. LeRoy Saakko, of San Jose; Ester Hansen; Madge Brodel, Eleanore Saunders; Vera Cook; Beth Duncan; Ada Jorgensen; Martha Adkisson; Margaret Galten; Alice Thompson; Mrs. Mary Thompson; Pat Rigott, Elsie Mooers; Dorothy Sterling, all from Brisbane.

Pfc. D. P. TUCKER NOW HOME ON LEAVE

Home on his first leave since he joined the U. S. Marines last July is Pfc. Denis P. Tucker, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Tucker, 451 Winchester.

The young Marine returned home Thursday, January 18, for a 10 day leave. He expects to be sent overseas upon returning to his base at San Diego.

Another member of the Tucker family, Pfc. Harold Tucker, 20, is now with the Air Force at Godman Field, Fort Knox, Kentucky.

SOCIETY

17th District CCPT

Publicity Chairman From 60 Local PTAs Attend Publicity Meet At Woodside

Sixty publicity chairmen from local Parent Teacher associations in Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers were among the nearly 300 members and guests who heard a panel of five speakers at the annual Press and Publicity luncheon Thursday, January 18, at Woodside.

Proper handling of news releases and photographs were illustrated in humorous detail by George McQueen, publisher of the "Burlingame Advance," and Charles Waterman, "San Mateo Times photographer. Mr. McQueen defined, "Public Relations —the opinions people gather from publicity," and Mr. Waterman cautioned that pictures should present the idea clearly.

Jerry Joroslow, general manager of the Monarch Advertising Corpoation, showed samples of the background material used for promoting the fourth annual Shark Derby, co-sponsored last September by the San Mateo Lions club and the Coyote Point Yacht club. Complete preparation for any publicity campaign was stressed by Mr. Joroslow.

Audience Approval

Power of audience approval and disapproval on radio and T.V. programming was emphasized by both Bob Day, KSMO copy writer and announcer for KGO and KGO-TV, and Bob Foster, T.V. columnist on the San Mateo Times. They agreed that radio and T.V. are mediums to be used sparingly in PTA projects, and should publicize only outstanding community events.

All of the speakers gave comprehensive professional advice on news treatment in the five publicity channels, and as a guide Bob Day offered, "AIDA—Attention, Interest, Desire, and Action," as steps in public service programs. Panel speakers answered questions in the open forum which concluded the program. Chairmen for the day were Mrs. Arne Hersom of Belmont and Mrs. Dan K. Tilley of San Mateo.

Report

Mrs. G. J. Sirex of San Carlos, district president who directed the morning business session, reported on the recent State Board of Managers meeting in San Francisco, which she attended. Theme for the State convention to be held in San Diego May 2, 3, and 4 expresses the concern of all Parent-Teacher groups in wartime: "Children Still Come First."

In presenting chairmen of her department, Mrs. Sirex called on Mrs. Alan S. Ryall of San Mateo, tax concultant; Mrs. Charles Bersinger of San Carlos and Mrs. Burr O. Shelenbarger of Menlo Park, art co-chairmen who were responsible for the attractive theme decorations for the luncheon—newspaper replicas of "ye olde Town Crier's Bell," placecards, and newspaper table mats; Mrs. L. W. Lockwood of Milbrae, clippings for the state record; Mrs. Frank Garelick of Milbrae, publicity book instruction; and the publicity co-chairmen.

Findings Noted

Asilomar health conference findings were given by Mrs. Roy N. Cloud Jr. of Redwood City, district health director and official delegate. She summarized, "In considering 'Tensions in a War Period,' it was decided the most important ingredient for peaceful living is a mature mind."

Blood donor schedules at the San Mateo County Blood Bank were outlined, when San Mateo-Burlingame PTAs and Sequoia district units were asked to confer with the Red Cross Chapter in each area. Special day announced by Mrs. R. F. Palmer of San Mateo, community service chairman, was Friday, February 2, for the twenty-two associations in the Tri-City section.

March of Dimes

Donations to polio funds and participation of PTA in the "March of Mothers" were authorized by the CCPT. International relations chairman Mrs. Harry D. Gettins of Burlingame invited unit representatives to hear Roger Carter of the British Embassy speak for Peninsula UNESCO on Monday, January 22, at 8 p.m. in the Burlingame Women's Club.

Departmental reports were made by Mrs. Clemens Freidell Jr. of San Mateo, mental health chairman, who announced a discussion of the Levering Act for January 24 at 8 p.m. in the Commander's Cottage on the Coyote Point Junior College campus; Mrs. Verne W. Roberts of Burlingame, radio and T.V. committee, who urged the public to communicate its likes and dislikes to the broacasters; and Mrs. Howard H. Dodge of Menlo Park, emblems and magazines, who offered asistance for Founders Day programs.

NEWS FROM THE SCHOOLS

CROCKER

CROCKER SCHOOL

The fifth grade in Room 3 have just learned to reduce fractions to lowest terms. Everyone is doing very well in his work.

Karl Raffo is moving to Ferndale, Washington. We are sorry to see him go.

Room 2

When the maps are finished they are going to be placed in their social studies booklet.

Two new students have enrolled in the class, Kenneth Hamilton from Texas and Donald Rossie, from Our Lady of Perpetual Help School.

Room 4

The sixth grade has been discussing tooth structure and care of the teeth. They have learned that regular brushing is a good way to prevent decay. Also, it is apparently a fact that civilized man's use of refined sugar has a definite effect on teeth. The members of the class drew large pictures of the tooth showing the nerve center, the denten, the pulp, and the hard outside enamel. They also learned the names of the different kinds of teeth: the incessors, the cuspids, the bicuspids, and the molars.

Room 5

Sharon Rather has re-entered Crocker and is in the room with her former classmates.

Grade 8 room 5 is finishing work on oblongs, triangles, squares, and circles. The next form to be studied is the trapezoid.

The class is also working on history and Constitution in preparation for their tests.

Room 4

The sixth grade is making a special study of story telling. Each child is learning a story to tell to the class and then will write a short story of his own.

State Employment

49,000 State Workers Want Higher Wages

JAN. 25—(CNS)—Supporters of a substantial wage increase to some 49,000 state workers make no secret that they are disappointed in a bill now before the state legislature which provides a five per cent increase in pay, retroactive to January 1.

Pointing to a minimum cost of living for a single working girl survey conducted by the Industrial Welfare Commission, they point out this survey determined that it now costs a single working woman $2,003.98 a year to live.

Total Includes

This total includes $1,071.68 for food and housing, $186.76 for clothing, $31.16 for clothing upkeep, $104.67 for medical care, $37.16 for personal care, $94.17 for carefare and transportation, $105.79 for vacation and recreation, $66.45 for miscellaneous items, and $52 for insurance and emergencies. Withholding taxes total $259.52.

If it costs this sum for a average working girl, say those asking a 13 per cent salary increase for state workers, consider the plight of the married man or woman with dependents whose maximum pay runs from $190 to $268 per month.

The majority of state workers are within these wage brackets and the five per cent increase will do little to ease the high cost of living burden. With an increase in federal income taxes assured, it is said this salary boost will be wiped out.

Feels Pinch

The state is beginning to feel the pinch of a labor shortage with trained personnel moving into the military services. These workers must be replaced and unless wages are made attractive, it is said, available labor will move into the more lucrative jobs opening in defense plants.

Three bills proposing state wage increases have been introduced. One provides for the five per cent increase with a second five per cent July 1. A second measure would give a 13 per cent increase retroactive to September 1. The third would grant a flat $25 increase across the board to all state workers.

DALY CITY ASKED TO DONATE BLOOD

Donors To Have Day At Blood Bank, Feb. 16

The changing Korean war picture and the sinister threat to the safety of the American homeland today caused the American Red Cross to make anew its appeal for blood donors.

Dr. W. Max Chapman, Pacific area Red Cross blood procurement director, said that patriotic men and women must give 1,000,000 pints of blood by July 1 for armed forces needs, plus everyday civilian hospital requirements and for assurance of a blood reserve in case of civil defense needs here at home. To meet this quota, volunteers must triple the previous high record.

20,000 Pints

He has been called on by National Red Cross headquarters to have California supply 20,000 pints of blood this month for the Armed Forces alone. Last month the quota for the San Mateo County and Sequoia Chapters, Red Cross, together was 600 pints, a goal which was not reached, for only 439 heeded the appeal.

This month, while some of the 10 blood donor centers in California have increased quotas, the San Mateo chapter has not been increased. However, chapter leaders make strong appeal today for donors to at least reach the required 600 pints here this month.

Staff Enlarged

The San Mateo County Blood Bank has augmented its staff to provide instant service to all donors under the Red Cross plan. Red Cross days at the blood bank are Tuesdays from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. For an appointment as a blood donor call Di 3-4561 and say, "I want to give a pint of blood and save a life."

Brisbane Auxiliary

Mrs. Howarton Is Guest Speaker

At the January meeting of the Twenty Sixth District of the American Legion Auxiliary, held recently in Brisbane with the Brisbane Unit as hostess the honored guest was Mrs. Edith Howarton, of Upland, California, Department Legislative Chairman.

Mrs. Howarton gave a very interesting and educational address on this program.

The District Rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Frank Gomes, of San Mateo, reported that the members of the District had given 501 hours of Service with 111 members participating in the various hospital programs during the holiday season. A letter of thanks was read from the Palo Alto Facility.

February being the American Legion Auxiliary Americanism month, the District Chairman urged all units to make plans for a program then.

The next regular round table luncheon and program will be held on February 14 at the Villa Chartier, in San Mateo, with the Americanism program as the theme. The District President urged all to attend.

50 Years Of Love

Couple Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Some friends and relatives were on hand January 6 to wish Mr. and Mrs. John Stura, 129 Oliver street, well wishes on their golden wedding anniversary.

The Sturas received many beautiful gifts, all appropriate to the occasion.

Mrs. Stura, who at 70 still works in her garden, kept open house during most of the day and well into the night. Assisting her was her husband John who can still operate a cement works at 75.

In fact, the elderly couple wore out the guests, and it is reported they were the last to retire after the day-long celebration.

In addition to the many friends present, the Sturas children were also on hand: Miss Letizia Stura of Redwood City; Mrs. Sella Bruno of San Francisco; John Stura of San Francisco; and Alby and William Stura of Daly City.

Winter Play Bill

Jefferson High Players To Present "Family Circle" In Unique Production

"Family Circle," an hilarious farce, has been chosen for Jefferson High School's winter play to be presented on March 1 and 2 in the High School auditorium.

Miss Seaton, the director, has decided upon a unique type of production—the play will be done "in the round." That is, the theatre will be similar to the circus in which the acting area is in the center and the audience sits on all four sides. This limits the seating capacity but ensures perfect vision and hearing for all those watching.

Good Comedy

The play itself is a rollicking comedy about Cornelia Otis Skinner, one of America's most brilliant present day actresses of the legitimate stage, and about her problem as a young lady of eighteen to convince her parents that she should be allowed to go on the stage. She "acts" all over the house and seemingly to no avail until a surprise from her father makes life rosy again.

Cast

The play has been cast and is now in rehearsal. The part of Cornelia will be played by Beverly Bendinelli and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Skinner by Ronald Quint and Mary Lou Morris. Cornelia's true friend and constant companion, Mab, will be portrayed by Jean Reagen and Mary Ann Bass will appear as Enid, whose only interest in life is the opposite sex. Bob Kalinin will play the role of Charlie, Cornelia's heart throb and Don Benando will play William, Enid's current boy friend.

Two of Cornelia's friends, Grace and Amy, will be portrayed by Shirley McIntyre and Jo Ann Gordohn and their boy friends, Henry and Gordon, by Ario Gregori and Gary Larson. Joan de Vore will be seen as the maid, Abby.

Legion Plans Dinner-Dance

Members of American Legion Post No. 410 have scheduled a potluck dinner and dance this Saturday evening, January 27.

The dinner will get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall, 474 San Diego. Following the dinner, a full evening of dancing is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Forte are chairmen for the occasion. They may be reached by calling JUniper 4-1182.

Meanwhile, all Legion members were urged today to pay their current dues. They should be mailed to the Commander of Adjutant.

Lutheran Church Installs Officers

Rev. Robert G. Konzelman, B.D., pastor of The Lutheran Church of Our Savior, will, at this Sunday's regular 11 a.m. worship hour, formally install the 1951 officers of the church's Ladies Guild.

The officrs include: President Mrs. John Mallick; Vice-President Mrs. Lyle Vesey; Secretary Mrs. Wm. Geiss; Treasurer Mrs. Don Edrington.

Enfried Benson, superintendent of the sunday school, announces there is a class for every person at 9:45 Sunday morning. The pastor invites people of the community to bring their Bibles to the Sunday evening "Bible Hour" at 7:30.

The church is located on the corner of Garfield and Junipero Serra blvd., and phone numbers are JU. 4-8501 and JU. 4-0293.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP WHIST SLATED THIS FRIDAY

Whist players were reminded again today of the biggest game of the month to be given by the "Sew & Sew" club this Friday, January 26.

The game will be held at the home of Mrs. N. Wegner, 339 Crocker, at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Mrs. William Hobbs, JUniper 7-9792 is in charge.

All money from the party will be used for the Parent Teachers' Association Life Membership fund.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Colma PTA

Founders' Day Program Planned

On January 18, at 10 a.m., Mrs. Stella L. Jensen, Mrs. William Chessman and Mrs. Marjorie Hopper attended the Seventeenth District Publicity Luncheon.

January 16, at the home of Mrs. H. L. Kern, the Sewing and Sunshine chairman and her committee met. Those who attended were: Mrs. William Chessman, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Claude Newman, Mrs. William Hutchings, Mrs. John Dennis Jr., Mrs. Edward J. Denins, Mrs. Angelo Tuvo, Mrs. Dale J. Stookey, Mrs. G. Landi, Mrs. Allan F. Mori, Mrs. Stella L. Jensen, Mrs. Jordan Hopper, Mrs. M. Pauline Brown, Mrs. Bruce, Miss Marie Traynor, Mrs. Hazel Colwell, Mis Blaylock, Miss G. Gannon.

The ladies worked on the program for Founders Day and the white table cloth for the dining room when we have our programs. The ladies decided to work on Red Cross Sewing at the next meeting, to be held at Mrs. Dale J. Stockeys' home on February 13. Mrs. Kern served coffee and cake.

Our Executive Board meeting was held on January 20 at 1:30 p.m. at the Colma Community Center.

"Founders Day," in honor of the two founders and our charter members, honorary life members and the past presidents of our own Colma PTA Unit. When? February 6, 7:30 p.m. Where? Colma Community Center, Dunk St., Colma.

Don't forget that the Honorary Life Membership Committee is still selling candy bars at the school on Wednesday during the noon hour. These memberships are sent to the state and then used for scholarships and fellowships for deserving students.

Mr. Erle Johnson, seventh grade, received the record for having the most members present at the general meeting, January 9.

STRENGTH FOR SERVICE

The advantages in resistance to corrosion and abrasion of the low alloy high strength steels, containing up to 2 per cent nickel, for the construction of railroad freight cars—especially in coal and ore service—have become well recognized.

Scout Cake Sale Slated February 2

Cake lovers will go for a special sale to be held by the Mothers' Club of Boy Scout Troop No. 249 Friday, February 2.

On that day, at 10 a.m., the mothers will have homemade cakes on sale at the Sprouse-Reitz Daly City store. All money from the sale of the cakes will go towards assisting the scout troop.

Mrs. Orin Wakefield and Mrs. Richard Traxler are in charge of the sale.

Mrs. Weckerle Assists In Institution Of New Chico CDA Court Sunday

Mrs. Milton C. Weckerle, state secretary for the Catholic Daughters of America, and a member of Court St. Mary, Daly City, was in Chico last Sunday.

There, she assisted with the institution of a new court of CDA and new officers. Mrs. Timmothy Maloney, state regent, presided.

Mrs. Weckerle acted as instituting deputy.

Also on hand was Mrs. Alice Parks, state chairman of extension.

LITTLE THEATRE PRESENTS MINICK

Ferber-Kaufman Show To Open February 2

An ever-popular Broadway hit, "Minick," has been selected by the Peninsula Little Theatre as their first production of 1951.

Turning their back on world problems and unrest, the organization's board of directors selected Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman as writers whose plays from "Show Boat" to "You Can't Take it with You" have never failed to be entertaining.

"Minick," which is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, February 2, 3, 9, 10, 16 and 17, in the San Mateo Junior College Auditorium, 124 Baldwin Avenue, San Mateo, deals humorously yet touchingly with the real problem of a father who is forced to move in with a young married couple in an apartment too small for all of them.

Father Wonders

Father Minick, who is played by Harold Reynolds, one of the group's most experienced character actors, gets in the way of his daughter-in-law's club meetings, and he can't understand how the young couple can stay up so late at night. He tucks his napkin into his collar and takes his shoes off in the living room, and feels lonely when he is left alone in the evening.

According to Robert Brauns, Director, audiences will chuckle warmly over Edna Ferber's amusing perception of human nature in the same way that New York audiences took to their hearts the late O. P. Heggie in the title role.

Expert Cast

An expert cast has been assembled, and rehearsals are bringing about a realistic re-creation of everyday life in the Minick family, with all its recognizable detail, mostly humorous ,sometimes touching.

All seats are reserved and may be secured from the following sources: (for opening night, Feb. 2, only) the Plymouth Guild of the San Mateo Congregational Church; Peninsula Box Offices in San Mateo and Palo Alto; by writing P. O. Box 543, San Mateo, or at the door the evenings of performances.

by
Mrs. Mark Swoverland
PLaza 5-4158

Hi, there. Gathering my notes together, I find the following items:

87th STREET

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Keller, newcomers to the Village. Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Craig, also new residents.

Mr. Ken Brugge celebrated his birthday January 23 with his wife, Jean, and his parents.

* * *

WHITE STREET

Around the corner from 87th, we hear tell of the young lads in the block who watched cowboys and Indians on television.

Matt Dorn celebrated his seventh birthday with lunch and a television party. Young guests were: Billy and Bruce Spry, Ken Magoon, Doyle Clayton and brother Gerry Dorn. Hmm, now we have theatre parties at home.

* * *

SWEETWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frank celebrated their first anniversary with a dinner. Celebrating with them were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frank of Westlake.

Capt. Carl Hansen, USAMC, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McEwen. Capt. Hansen, a recent Broadmoor resident, accompanied a patient by plane to Letterman Hospital.

* * *

LARCHMONT

Congratulations to George and Jerry Thayer on the arrival of their new young Miss . . . Jane Ellen, born January 8.

Miss Marie Jean Glasse presided at a youth presbytery meeting held in the Chinese Church of San Francisco.

Speaking of churches, mothers will be glad to hear there will be nursery to leave youngsters while attending the Broadmoor Community Presbyterian Church. This service begins next Sunday at the church.

* * *

NIMITZ

Sorry to hear that Dora Stookey has been home ill for a week. Hope she is better soon.

STEWART

MADDUX

Mrs. Nathan Temkin gave a farewell tea for Mrs. Gollibec, girl scout leader, who is moving soon to Menlo Park. Attending were the mothers of the group for which she was a leader. Those attending were Mesdames: Niblock, Hansen, Nannini, Nurse, Stanghellini, Gaggero, Benedetti, Bloom, Detweiler, Hoper, High, Dougherty, Banfield, Bruce and Verducci.

* * *

WILDWOOD

Sorry to hear that Dr. and Mrs. Hilton B. Atherton and family are moving soon to San Mateo where the doctor is going into practice.

CONSTRUCTION UNDER WAY ON WESTLAKE SCHOOL

Work began last Thursday on the new 14 room Westlake school at the corner of Westlawn avenue and Fieldcrest drive.

The $262,000 school will have, in adition to 14 rooms, an all purpose room for an assembly center, kitchen and cafeteria, and other special rooms.

J. C. Peterson of San Carlos has the contract for the job.

The school is expected to be opened by September, 1951.

DC Theatre Names Assistant Manager

Going up the ladder of success, Mrs. Esther Murphy this week took over the position of assistant manager of the Daly City Theatre.

Over the past 2½ years Mrs. Murphy has been cashier for the theatre, Dan Andersen, theatre manager, said today.

"We feel she will make one of the best assistant managers the theatre has ever had," Andersen noted.

The promotion comes as Mrs. Murphy's husband, Jack, is preparing to go on duty with the navy. Jack, a member of the Navy Reserves, will report for duty February 9.

Mrs. Murphy resides on Miriam street.

Department's First Alarm Proves False

On their first call since they became a full time paid department January 16, Daly City fire busters answered a false alarm in Westlake Wednesday morning.

The alarm was turned in by a 10-year-old boy who thought it would be interesting to pull the handle on the box at Lake Vista and Westlawn. A neighbor thought it was right to inform the department of the lad's action.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy had a long talk with the boy. He reports the youngster won't be turning in any more false alarms.

There was a second call the same day at 6:48 p.m. when a pot became overheated on the stove in the home of Mrs. Clement, 315 Citrus. Outside of ruining the pot, no damage was done, Chief Kennedy said.

Women Of Moose To Meet Thursday

Senior Regent Clo. Guerrazzi announced the remainder of the January program for San Francisco Chapter No. 739, Women of the Moose will include a regular meeting on January 25 at 8:15 p.m., I.O.O.F. Hall, at which time a large class of Candidates is to be initiated.

Child Care Chairman Gladys Stevens is in charge of entertainment for the evening.

On January 28 the mid-winter conference of the Women of the Moose will be held at Redwood City with representatives from Redwood City, San Jose, Santa Cruz, Watsonvile, Monterey, Salinas and San Francisco.

Each chapter present will participate in the Scholarship Fund March, proceeds from which are applied to a scholarship for a girl graduate of Mooseheart, the child city.

Last October more than $5,000 was collected throughout the United States for a similar purpose.

The Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act requires that goods supplied on a Government contract in exces of $10,000 must be made under safe and sanitary working conditions.

Cathleen McClintock Eats 30 Too Many Tasty Aspirin

Two-year-old Cathleen McClintock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. McClintock, 51 Willits, has a liking for aspirin.

This almost proved her downfall last Friday morning. Stealing into the medicine cabinet, the youngster downed some 30 tablets of one-half grain aspirin. Her mother found her finishing the last tablet at 9:40 a.m.

By 10 a.m. Cathleen was at Junipero Serra hospital, her stomach empty of everything, including the pills. Hospital authorities say she is in good health today.

Jackie Rehe Joins Navy

John Rehe (better known to all as "Jackie"), is now with the U. S. Navy stationed at San Diego. Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rehe Sr., 149 Wilson street.

Before entering the Navy, he was employed at his father's service station, 6200 Mission street.

Just recently he and Miss Marlene McKinnon announced their engagement. Wedding plans are indefinite.

Marlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKinnon of Daly City.

SHERIDAN STUDENTS GRADUATE JANUARY 31

Twenty-eight students of Sheridan School will hold their graduation party, given by Sheridan P.T.A. Wednesday, January 31, at 12:00 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The boys and girls have planned a program which they will present at this time. Mrs. Joseph Harrop, vice president, of Sheridan PTA, is in charge of the graduation party.

The Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act requires time and one-half pay for work after eight hours a day or 40 hours a week, whichever will net the employee more pay.

REPORT WHITE RETURNS AS LEADER

These candid pictures show the kind of clothes men are wearing at world famous resorts where fashion trends originate—They were taken by Fashion Bureau on-the-spot correspondents.

DEL MAR, CALIF.—Men attending the races at this track, made famous by many Hollywood celebrities, show a preference for white slacks and dark colored blazer type coats—with gold metal or white pearl buttons. White in the ensemble," says New York's Fashion Bureau, "Is the newest sports wear trend."

Court St. Mary Plans For Spring Festival

At the last meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America in Daly City plans were discussed for a spring festival to be held the later part of April, date to be disclosed later.

Mrs. Arthur Heyden acted as general chairman. Last minute details for the February initation were discussed by Mrs. Richard J. Ennis, grand regent of the court. She asked the Ladies to bring in a new member.

Mrs. George Rode then gave a most interesting book report on the life of Padre Junipero Serra, O.F.M., 1713-1784, by the Rev. Eric O'Brien, O.F.M., vice-postulator for Padre Serra's cause to present him as a candidate for sainthood.

The Father O'Brien is in Rome at the present time with historical documents from the famous missions of California, which contributed so greatly with the colonization of California.

Mrs. Ennis closed the meeting by asking all members to donate blood for the fighting men in Korea.

Saturday Dance

Italian-American Club Schedules Annual Affair

Come one, come all to the annual Italian American Citizens' Club dance this Saturday evening, January 27.

That was the cordial invitation today of all members of the organization.

The dance, with the theme of "Carnival Time" is to be held in Colombo Hall, Colma, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Dancers will swing and sway to the rhythm of the Don Armando orchestra.

This is an annual affair which promises fun for everyone who attends.

About 53 per cent of pheasants bagged in California annually are taken in six rice-growing counties.

Dolwig Named To Lobby Committee

JAN. 25—(CNS)—Assemblyman Richard H. Dolwig, of San Mateo county, is chairman of the Assembly Committee on Legislative Representatives, according to announcement made last week by Speaker Sam Collins.

This is a special assembly committee, as results from the anti-lobbyist legislation at the the last session of th legislature.

Duties of the committee, Dolwig said, are to pass on the credentials of lobbyists who register with the assembly, determine if the lobbyists are following the rules of procedure laid down by that body and hear complaints, if any, regarding lobbying activities.

Dolwig also was named chairman of a special sub-committee of the assembly standing elections committee, of which he is a member, to investigate the election of Patrick McGee, Los Angeles assemblyman. McGee's election is being contested by Eldon J. Markwort, defeated candidate, and although the state Supreme Court had held the election legal, the court left it up to the legislature as to whether it should seat McGee.

Pvt. Davis Accepts TV Set For Buddies

Private Donald Davis of Daly City, who contracted polio in Tokyo, recently accepted on behalf of the patients of Oak Knoll and Mare Island Naval Hospitals, one of two television sets being given those hospitals by Dwight F. McCormack, Admiral television distributor for the San Francisco bay area, and his daughter, Mrs. Guss Haag.

Mrs. Julie Kline of Beverly Hills and screen acresses Ruth Warrick, Coleen Gray, Lisa Ferraday and Suzane Dalbert also presented the hospital with a new public address system and 113 volumes of phonograph records which were made possible through the efforts of Mrs. Kline and her associates, who each year head the Damon Runyon Cancer fund in Hollywood.

The group held a Gifts-for-Wounded party at the La Quinta Hotel in Palm Springs recently and all money is being used to buy items needed in service hospitals for morale building purposes.

Seven Million Enter California

JAN. 25—(CNS)—More than seven million persons passed through California plant quarantine stations into this state during the past year, the State Department of Agriculture announced today. Many of these visitors, the department said, came to stay.

Records of the Bureau of Plant Quarantine show that inspectors checked 2,364,439 automobiles, 226,851 commercial vehicles, 39,056 busses, and 7,094,893 persons through the 18 border stations during the 12 months.

Of the total, 1,134,439 were cars with foreign licenses and passengers from other states totaled 3,024,057. Passengers on buses were counted at 825,081, the mapority being from other states.

The border station of Truckee, which serves the San Mateo county area, checked 316,097 autos and 943,719 passengers.

Cub Pack No. 36

Parents Called On To Assist Cub Pack As Organization Now Badly Understaffed

By MRS. E. K. WHINNEN

The new cub master of pack 36, Irwin Schmidt, puts the boys through their paces at the last pack meeting, giving them a taste of the decipline he will expect from them as a pack.

All boys with glo-socks were sent up onto the stage as an example of how a cub should not dress for pack meetings. All Cubs will be required to come in full uniform and strictly uniform dress. Caps, ties, (untied, incidentally) regulation socks and shoes. No tennis shoes. Though strong on decipline, the boys seem to take enthusiastically to Cub Master Schmidt.

Parents Welcome

A good turn out of parents was observed. Mr. Schmidt let it be understood he would not undertake to be cub master of the pack unless the parents took and active interest. The pack is parent sponsored, you know, and some of the parents had become a bit lackadaisical in their attitude. Perhaps it takes a man of Mr. Schmidt's calibre to remind parents of their duties in community affairs.

Good luck, Mr. Schmidt.

Den 15

Den 15 is now consolidated with Den 16. Den 16 is almost back to full strength, despite the four boys who were graduated just before Christmas. More boys are asking to be taken into the den.

Let me take this opportunity to ask parents of all cubs and prospective cubs, who wish to join Den 16, that it is necessary for them to cooperate with leaders and co-leaders if they wish their sons to have the advantage of cubbing in Den 16. Irene Rosenberg is a good and conscientious leader, but she must have help. For instance, take your own son to Pack meetings, twice a month.

Their Share

The Rosenbergs have always taken more than their share of this load. Mrs. Rosenberg cannot take more boys into the den, unless, you, the parents, are willing to give some of your time and efforts too. At present, Mrs. Rosenberg and one assistant are the sole leaders of Den 16.

Badly needed are more assistant den mothers if the den is to be enlarged. Likewise, among these assistants should be one mother prepared to take over the den when Mrs. Rosenberg's son is graduated in June.

Mrs. Rosenberg did not ask me to make this plea, but knowing the situation, I am taking it upon myself to make this appeal to you as parents. Your response to this plea may determine whether or not your son can become a cub in den 16. How about it?

You may call Mrs. Rosenberg, JU. 4-4771, or call at her home, 973 Brunswick St., and talk it over with her.

S.M.J.C. Prepares For New Spring Session February 5

San Mateo Junior College basketball players, victors over Sacramento Jaysee last Friday night, will play Menlo College this Friday evening in the Baldwin Avenue campus gym. The main game will start at eight o'clock.

With final examinations now underway, San Mateo Jaysee students can see that the close of the fall term is approaching. Entrance examinations have been given to new students coming in next term, and the Spring semester is scheduled to start February 5.

Fifty-six Mateans have left college since January 1 to enter service and more are scheduled to leave soon. However, the college student body expects to be able to carry on a full program of Spring sports. The decision to leave students in college for the full semester will probably mean that the college enrollment will hold up.

San Mateo Jaysee coeds won seven ribbons in a horse show at the City College of San Francisco.

James Porter of Burlingame will address Community Hall Monday evening and will show color films of a vacation on the Gaspe Peninsula and in the city of Quebec.

The Peninsula Little Theatre of the college adult center is hard at work rehearsing "Minick," the Edna Ferber-George Kaufman play that will open February 2.

Twenty-nine football players have been awarded blocks for their work during the past grid season. The presentation was made at an all-college assembly.

Tempering Tank Aids Water Heating

Installation of a tempering tank between the water meter and the water heater will save fuel in heating the domestic water supply for the kitchen, laundry and bathroom, according to American Builder magazine. A tempering tank is merely a temporary storage tank in which the water is brought to room temperature before entering the heating unit.

The tempering tank should be placed under the ceiling at the warmest point in the basement, kitchen or utility room. It should not be insulated.

KEEP SILVER IN RACK

Flat table silver will tarnish less if kept in a rack in a dining-room drawer. As a further protective measure, the drawer should be brushed out frequently.

NOISY FAUCET EASILY FIXED

A faucet that pounds when it is opened easily can be repaired by replacing the washer with a new one, or by tightening a loose screw or nut inside the faucet.

GREASE CLOGS DRAINS

Grease, permitted to accumulate, clogs drains and traps. Thorough flushing of the pipes with hot water always should be the final step in cleaning the sink.

BEAUTY—News & Views

By TONI WOODWARD—ANS Staff Writer

SO YOU'RE DREAMING of your glamour role at the big party . . . anticipating that shiver of excitement when you suddenly look new. A breath-taking dress can do it . . . or a dramatic new hairdo . . . but don't forget that the most important part of the picture is you, yourself — with your complexion looking its radiant loveliest. To ready yourself for the dance, why not take a tip from the youngest member of your family — the one whose satiny skin is so envied. "Baby" your own skin as you do his.

To keep your complexion soft and fresh-looking, use a baby lotion after your morning face-dunking and before retiring at night. This lanolin, oil and water emulsion will give your face, throat and hands baby-softness and suppleness, and help keep them lubricated against harsh dryness. If your face has become irritated from windburn and cold after a day of winter sports, substitute baby oil for soap as a cleansing agent until the irritation has lessened. What we particularly like about baby's beauty aids is that they leave a delicate and appealing fresh fragrance to your skin that doesn't conflict with your favorite perfume.

ANOTHER BEAUTY AID, which we've "borrowed" from baby, are sterile, absorbent cotton balls. These convenient, ready-made cotton balls are invaluable for removing nail polish, applying powder, skin tonics, lotions, or removing make-up. Moistened with boric acid solution, they're soothing to wind-strained eyes.

IF YOUR HAIR is dulled by too many permanents, split at the ends, or dried by overheated rooms, try this hair-beauty treatment to bring back its natural softness and romantic "lovelights". Before each shampoo, dip a sterile cotton ball in warmed baby oil and rub the oil into the scalp. Then wring dry a steamy, hot towel and wrap it around your head. Leave it on until the steam dies down . . . repeat several times to ease the baby oil into the scalp. Follow with a sudsy shampoo, and get ready to take your bows as new highlights gleam from your soft, lustrous tresses.

* * *

MAKE-UP HINT—since dirt and grime have always been enemies of a clear, radiant skin, our advice is—throw away that soiled powder puff and keep a handy box of sterile cotton balls on your dressing table. Use a clean cotton ball for each powdering session. Then there's no chance for old powder-puff soil to clog your pores. After powdering, moisten a cotton ball with icy witch hazel, press it on your freshly powdered face, and "set" your make-up. Result: an invitation to romance.

Sarto A.C. Squeeze Out Veteran's Inn; Ralph Cleaners Explode Hoyt Heaters

Thrilling basketball was in store for the more than 150 persons who turned out for the opening games of the Jefferson Night School league Tuesday, January 23.

In two hard fought games the Sarto A.C. downed Veteran's Inn 44 to 41. This was a nip and tuck game all the way with the score at half time 21 to 20 in favor of the Vets.

John Reresich was the kingpin of the Veteran's Inn squad, firing four field goals, and three free throws for 11 points. Guard Benny Geenough sparked the Sarto's with 14 points.

The surprise of the evening was Ralph's Cleaners who came forward to defeat Hoyt Heaters by the comfortable score of 68 to 27. There was no stopping the Cleaners. They seemed to be able to drop the ball through the loop from just about any position on the floor. In fact, Coach Glenn South said today that it has been a long time since he has seen such fine shooting and teamwork.

Running the offense for the Cleaners was Jim Lebel who scored 10 field goals and four free throws for 24 points. Close behind was Dan Vucurevich with 15 points.

Wilson, of Hoyt Heaters, was top man for his team with 7 digits.

Next Tuesday, beginning at 7:20 p.m. in the Jefferson High School gym, the Sarto A. C. take on Hoyt, and Ralph's tackles the Veteran's Inn.

DALY CITY SPORTSWOMEN DISCUSS PENDING STATE GAME LEGISLATION

It was a very busy meeting for the Daly City Sportswomen on January 17 at the home of Frances Nenstiel.

Because the last meeting was primarily social, being the Christmas party, business was kept to the minimum, and that old business, combined with much new business, held the Sportswomen in business session until almost 10:00 p.m.

The new officers functioned smoothly and it looks like a bang-up good year for the Sportswomen. Several projects were undertaken, which, if carried through as planned will really put the club in the active class. Since some of these are tentative and have to be cleared with other organizations, or people before we can go ahead, they cannot be reported at this time, but shall be covered fully in later reports.

Chairmen Named

Four chairmen were named to carry on the business of the club for the coming year. These are permanent chairmen, but from time to time, other chairmen will be named for special events. The four permanent chairmen are: Frances Nenstiel, Huck Finn Pool. This will be the third year Frances has chairmaned this committee. Marge Lynch, Fund Raising. 'Tis said, Marge is a whiz at things like this. Year Book, Laurien Fox. Mildred Whinnen, Publicity. Second year for this chairman too. Wants to make sure she gets good notices, huh? A social chairman will also be named later.

The Sportswomen can be proud of the fine turn-out of delegates for the District Seven Council meeting the first Thursday of the month. Each club is allowed five delegates and three alternates.

On The Spot

The Daly City Sportswomen were Johnny-on-the-spot with 100 per cent representation. The meeting was an interesting one with important legislation being presented to delegates for their approval or disapproval. The proposition of giving prospective hunters a test for knowledge of firearms and how to use them, before issuing hunting licenses, was brought on the floor and discussed favorably.

In view of the number of unnecessary accidents each year by hunters, so-called, that will shoot at anything that moves in the brush, it seems that some sort of legislation along this line will be necessary.

Another new piece of legislation brought before Council Seven was whether to permit hunters to sell deer skins, legally taken, of course, with tags as proof. It was pointed out that now much leather is going to waste. True. However, there are incipient evils in this legislation, too.

Already, it is alleged, leather manufacturers are beating the drums for "no closed season" on deer. There would soon be an end of the deer if that law ever got on the statute books!

More Legislation

Another piece of legislation that seems to us most important, is a proposed law to permit the Fish and Game Commission to select what it considers an unprejudiced judge in the same county as the violation to hold violation trials. The reason for this is obvious. Many times due to prejudice or because of pressure of some powerful group, the intent and purpose of the law have been circumvented.

The question of why bank fishing at Lake Merced was restricted was asked and will be answered at the next meeting of Council Seven. That is one thing this writer has been wondering about, too, so I shall be looking forward to hearing the answer.

Joint Meet

A joint meeting of the San Francisco Sportswomen, the San Bruno Sportswomen, and the Daly City Sportswomen, was approved by the membership, and secretary, Mary Sullivan, instructed to contact the clubs and arrange a suitable time.

The membership turned thumbs down on a proposal that the club as a body, attend one or two meetings of District Council Seven. The consensus of opinion being, that if five delegates attended, the club was amply represented. The Daly City Sportswomen will serve the refreshments at the next meeting of the Council. It is expected to be a large meeting as besides the regular delegates, the Surf Club will be there as a body.

Visitor

Ed Meierding, chairman of the Huck Finn Pool for the Daly City Rod and Gun Club, paid the meeting a short visit, explaining the operation of the Huck Finn Pool, and asked the help of the Sportswomen in carrying out the plan of helping all children who care to try their hand, to catch fish. It was fun last year, and we are looking forward to seeing those kids dancing around with excitement again this year, when they land a "big one."

Net Fishing

Bill Sponsored To Outlaw Nets

JAN. 25—(CNS) — Sacramento and San Joaquin valley senators are joining in a senate bill which will prohibit the use of nets for fishing in the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers above Pittsburg.

The measure is being sponsored by Senators Verne Hoffman, of San Joaquin county, and Paul L. Byrne, of Butte county. Also, Senator Louis Sutton, Colusa county, is a co-author as well as other senators.

The measure is along the same principle as the initiative voted down by the people at the 1948 election, but does not contain as stringent provisions, Hoffman said.

Senator Byrne said the sporting interests of the upper Sacramento river are very much interested in the bill, and that he would sponsor it to prohibit commercial fishing with nets at any point on the river.

2½ MILLION FISH PLANTED BY STATE

JAN. 25—(CNS)—The State Bureau of Fish Conservation planted more than two and a half million catchable fish during the last fiscal year, according to a report issued by the Bureau today.

Total weight of the fish, the report said, was 417,855 pounds.

Of this total, none were planted in San Mateo county streams and ponds but in addition, the report said 14,082 fingerlings were planted in the county.

The total fingerlings planted amounts to more than 70,000 pounds, or more than 18 and a half million, the report stated.

San Mateo County Fisherman Praised

JAN. 25—(CNS) — Three San Mateo county fishermen have been commended by the State Division of Fish and Game for cooperation in returning red disc tags attached to salmon by the division in an effort to improve salmon runs.

The three are: A. E. Martin, Redwood City; Gilbert M. Georgeson, Sharp Park; and Ward Green, Moss Beach.

The division last year tagged several thousand salmon in coastal waters and in the Delta and upper Sacramento river.

Fishermen returning the tags receive a printed commendation with a short history of the salmon. In addition, they are eligible to complete in cash awards ranging from $5 to $50.

The fin-tags aid the division in learning the habits of the fish and the data is used in improving the salmon runs.

Sarto A.C. Meet Realty Sunday

Rained out last week, Sarto A.C. will meet Gordon Realty at noon Sunday at Marchbanks Park for the second round of the Golden Gate Park Baseball League pennant race.

With Dick Hamlin pitching against the Sarto lads, it looks as if they are going to have a rough Sunday, indeed. Hamlin has pitched 32 games, and of these has lost but four.

On the other hand the Sarto lads, with Don Mossi on the mound, have shown that they can hold their own.

Barring any ties, there now remains six more games in the race to determine the champion of the Park League.

Whitmore To Head County Police CD

San Mateo County's new sheriff, Earl B. Whitmore, today was making plans to train 1000 police reserve and auxiliary officers for county civilian defense.

Sheriff Whitmore was named county coordinator of police agencies for civil defense by the police chiefs of the county last week.

"We are proceeding with plans to equip and train 100 reserve deputy sheriffs who would be called on in case of emergency," Whitmore said today.

Each police department (including Daly City) will recruit and train its own reserves. The sheriff's office will handle reserves for the unincorporated territory, including Broadmoor Village .

Meanwhile, today Police Chief Paul Schmidt of Broadmoor appointed members to the recently-formed Broadmoor District Auxiliary Police.

Harry Brown was named lieutenant, while Albert Oliveri, Val Olson, Stephen O'Brien and Albert Fani will be sergeants.

The 20 man force is to be uniformed and will carry complete police equipment.

SPORTSMAN'S CALENDAR

LIFE BEGINS AT 40 CLUB TO MEET FRIDAY

The Bar Under Forty Square Dance Club will hold their next meeting at the Elm Court Recreation Center, in South City, on Friday, January 26, from 8 to 11 p.m.

They meet each second and fourth Friday of the month.

At their last session, eighteen members were present, and enjoyed dancing the old American Square and Round dances. This is still an open club . . . open to people forty years or over.

Those of you whose life begins at forty, come out and dance with us this Friday evening.

Bay Meadows

Thomas Appointed Racing Secretary

Appointment of Ivan Thomas as racing secretary at Bay Meadows was announced today by General Manager William P. Kyne.

Thomas succeeds Norris Royden, who is being elevated to the stewardship. Both appointments, subject to approval of the California Horse Racing Board, will become effective for Bay Meadows' lavish spring meeting March 13 to May 5.

Kyne gave Thomas his start in racing in 1940 and in 10 years time the young man from San Carlos has become an efficient, popular and widely known racing official.

First Job

Thomas' first job at Bay Meadows was that of office boy and his rapid climb under Kyne's guidance has been due to many good qualities which the Bay Meadows chief recognized at the outset.

Last season Thomas served as associate steward at Bay Meadows and as racing secretary at Portland Meadows in Oregon, Centennial Park at Denver, the state fair at Sacramento and the San Mateo County Fair.

He is a graduate of Santa Clara University and served in the armed forces during the last World War. He is married, has two children and has been a resident of San Mateo County since 1927.

Thomas will visit Santa Anita next week to distribute Bay Meadows stake books and stall application blanks to horsemen.

Conservation Meet Called This Week

Every Californian must lend a hand in the conservation of natural resources during the present state of emergency and under the threat of another resource-consuming war.

Such will be the keynote of the second regional conference on conservation of California's natural resources, meeting in Wheeler Hall, University of California campus, January 25 to 27.

Already, authorities point out, the State is feeling the impact of the emergency by an added drain on timber, soil, and other resources. How the public can aid in conservation will be explained at the three-day conference.

Invitations have been sent to representatives of nearly 1,000 organizations in 12 Bay Area counties. The public is invited to attend general sessions the evenings of January 25 and 26.

The conference on "renewable" natural resources is co-sponsored by the State Departments of Natural Resources and Education, and the University of California. A panel on the conservation of fish and game is headed by William H. Bostwick, Supervisor of Conservation Education of the Division of Fish and Game.

TROUT LIMIT IS DISCUSSED

JAN. 25—(CNS)—The trout bag limit would be two a day in Lake Merced, San Francisco county, under a proposal supported by the State Fish and Game Commission.

Auto Here To Stay

County Has Over 102,465 Vehicles

JAN. 25.—(CNS)—With a record breaking automobile registration forecast for the current year, the State Department of Motor Vehicles will show in every county, including San Mateo county, which on November 30, 1950, had 102,465 motor vehicles registered.

A. H. "Gus" Henderson, Department Director, today estimated this year's registration will reach 5,259,600 as compared to 4,915,069 on November 30 of last year.

California has almost as many motor vehicles traveling highways in this state as there are cars in Europe. The last available census from abroad showed some 6,000,000 motor vehicles registered in all countries on the continent and the British Isles.

Registrations in California do not tell the entire story of highway use, according to Henderson. Last year more than 7,000,000 motor vehicles crossed state borders and this huge total included approximately 4,000,000 cars from other states.

Henderson also called attention of California motorists to the deadline for securing 1951 license plates which is midnight, February 5. Fees double for registration after that date, and there is a 50 per cent increase in the in lieu tax.

CROCKER DEFEATS JEFF ON COURT

Jeff Grammar School Plays Burlingame Fri.

Friday night the Crocker A team had a first half scoring spree that proved too much for the Jefferson boys.

The first half ended with Crocker ahead 15-9; in the third period the Jeff's came back and tied the score 15-15, and then went ahead briefly 16-15. In the fourth quarter Ziegel scored a basket that put Crocker ahead and Jefefrson couldn't stop them from there on out.

The final score was 21-18 with Lewkowitz scoring six points for the winners and Al Lagomarsino taking high point honors with nine points. Al Figone came through with his usually fine game and scored eight points for them.

This Friday night, after the Jefferson High School plays their game with Burlingame High, the Jefferson Grammar School team will play host to a team from Burlingame. This should be a colorful game; so let's see some of you parents out for this one.

Remember, the game will start immediately following the high school's game, somewhere around 6 p.m.

Half-A-Million Fish Planted

The Division of Fish and Game planted a record-breaking total of half-a-million pounds of trout and salmon in California lakes and streams during the 1949-50 fiscal year.

Chief Alan C. Taft of the Bureau of Fish Conservation reported that 85 per cent of the total fish weight consisted of catchable-sized trout and salmon, six to ten inches in length. They numbered 2,501,182 fish.

The State agency planted 16,290,943 fingerling fish in waters of 46 counties. About a million and-a-half trout were dropped in remote mountain lakes by a specially-equipped airplane.

New Hatcheries

Taft attributed the increased total poundage to new and improved hatcheries developed by the California Wildlife Conservation Board from its share of State pari-mutuel proceeds. Cost of maintenance and operation is borne by money received from the sale of angling licenses.

Greatest producer for the year among the State's 26 hatcheries and rearing pond installations was the Black Rock ponds, operated in conjunction with the Mt. Whitney hatchery. A total of 2,385,935 trout weighing 133,027 pounds were raised at the Inyo County installations.

Vikings Overwhelm Jeff

Boys From Down Under Swamp Indian Varsity, But Lose In 130 Contest

Splitting a pair of games with Palo Alto last Friday, the Jefferson Indians lost the varsity tilt 54 to 33, but bounced back for a 35 to 28 win in the 130's game.

This was the third straight win for the Vikings, and toppled Jeff almost into the league basement in the PAL conference. Jeff now stands just four games from the bottom.

With 19 points to his credit, Bob Pederson, ace Viking player, ran up high point honors in the varsity game. Les Nicolini, guard for Jeff, led his boys with 10 digits.

It was the Vikings game all the way. In the first eight minutes they ran up an 11-4 score, stretching it to 30-11 at the half. Only in the third period did Jeff show any real life, coming within 8 points of the Vikings.

In the '30's contest, Don Wilson was a one man show. He ran up 17 points for the Indians.

Hunting Changes Urged In New Bill

JAN. 25—(CNS)—Bills designed to effect curbs on game management areas where the public pays to hunt pheasants, were introduced in the assembly by Evrett Burkhalter, Los Angeles, today.

The measures provide for reducing the amount of hunting days in the areas from 50 to 30, and elmininate the maximum charge of $200 for 40 birds. A charge of $4 per bird would be permitted.

Also, the areas would be required to open their season on the same day the public shooting season for pheasants opens.

Burkhalter said that unless the amendments were adopted, he would press another bill which would eliminate game management areas entirely. At present, the public is allowed to shoot ten days, and may kill ten birds a season.

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY

By Bernice Hendryx JUniper 4-6449

Bayshore was visited this past week with several of our county officials. Mr. Tormey, our new Superintendent of Public Schools was among those present. A committee from Bayshore asked for an audience with Mr. Tormey several weeks ago, and it was his suggestion that it would be much easier for him to come up here than to have a number of people try to set a time to appear in his office.

The meeting took place last Tuesday, at the Bayshore Voters League Hall. It was an informal gathering, with a get acquainted flavor. Mr. Tormey chatted along, outlining the duties of his office, and discussing our school policies. There was a rather lengthy question and answer period, relative to our own schools, the part played by our local PTA, and general programs for educational and hygiene betterment.

Three other visitors put in an appearance. They were Ted Moudakas, right hand man to our new sheriff, Earl Whitmore, Lt. Fosters, a member of the Redwood City Police Dept., and Del Creeks, of the Sheriff's Office.

Discussion

Mr. Moudakas discussed the inadequate manpower in the county Sheriff's Office, and generally outined some of the more ambitious hopes of the new sheriff. With San Mateo County's terriffic increase in population, a larger budget is absolutely necessary to cover the employment of additional men. At the present time, there is some fifty employees in the department. Those men include the clerks, radio men, warders, etc., which leaves relatively few men in the field. Generally speaking, the surrounding areas employ one man to approximately every thousand residents. San Mateo county has close to 200,000 population, which should give you an idea of present conditions.

Vital Interest

Bayshore is one of the areas vitally interested in this situation. Being an unincorporated area, we are dependent upon the Sheriff's Office for protection. With the present set-up, it is virtually impossible for the sheriff to give us any sort of patrol that could be deemed adequate for our needs.

One of the other tentative services being considered by the sheriff, is a Juvenile Division. At the present time, we have only the Probation Dept. for help with youngsters that show a tendency to step outside the law, in both small and large instances. This program, if put through, would give us a department that would operate with the parents in an attempt to curtail these activities before they reached serious proportions.

Earl Whitmore has been appointed coordinator for the county, by all the police departments, for Civilian Defense. He has appointed Del Creeks, a member of his staff, to work with him on this large scale program.

Also Spoke

Lt. Fosters, a member of the Redwood City Police Dept. was present, and spoke on the beginnings of Civilian Defense, as set up in Redwood City. He pointed out that every person that worked on this vital project would have to be carefully screened, fingerprinted, mugged, and in general, given a through going over. He said that at the present time, interest in this serious problem seemed very low in the county, and that he hoped that response in our community proved more promising.

Brief Talk

Del Creeks, who was unfortunately held up, and arrived at the meeting late, was able to speak only briefly on this subject, but he assured those present that he would contact them in the near future, and that application blanks would be available for those that are interested in helping with this work of Civilian Defense. This program, Mr. Creeks pointed out, will be set up in different divisions, such as block-wardens, health divisions, fire divisions, etc., and the efficiency of operation depends almost entirely upon members of our own community.

It doesn't mean a handful of people that are ordinarily left to see to the welfare of the district, but many who have never taken any active part in community affairs. Logically speaking, it means particularly those housewives that have not circulated in the neighborhood, and those men that work outside the valley, and have never taken the time to meet their neighbors. These people are the ones that must be reached. In the case of disaster, it would be these people that would be cut off from many forms of help, because of their lack of information as to how to most effectively secure assistance.

Played Hosts

The Hughes family, of 980 Schwerin, played hosts to Mrs. William Kurtz of San Diego last Wednesday. Mrs. Kurtz, on her way through, was able to take time out for luncheon and dinner with Phil and Tiny.

Church Activities

The Baptist Church is winding up its two week program that included the presence of William Stroh, the singing evangelist. Saturday night there will be a young people's service. The topic will be "In love with, and married to, the wrong woman." Sounds right interestin'. There will be a wind-up rally, both Sunday morning and Sunday evening.

Next Wednesday evening, there will be a missionary meeting, with interest focused on India. The meeting will be at the Baptist Church, at 7:30 p.m.

Don't forget the March of Dimes Dance, to be given this Saturday night, by the Mr. & Mrs. Club. The dance will be at the Administration Building, in the Naval Project, at 9 p.m. Come on over everybody, and spend a few dimes for a worthy cause. Admission is only 25 cents, and the club boasts an unbroken record of good times for everybody. They make a point of making you feel at home. All proceeds from this shindig will go the March of Dimes, so turn out.

Good Luck, Boys

12 Local Men Join Armed Service

Since then all of the young men are either awaiting orders, or have entered the various services.

Reinhold Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tag Peterson, 683 Hanover. He enlisted in the navy.

Gerard Lorenzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Lorenzo, 644 Hanover, He enlisted in the army air force.

James Filippo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Filippo, 98 Templeton. He enlisted in the navy.

James Yonan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yonan, 198 Irvington. He enlisted in the navy.

Franklin Whorley, son of Mr and Mrs. E. F. Whorley, 960 Brunswick. He enlisted in the navy.

Richard Gamba, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gamba, 20 Holloway, San Francisco. He enlisted in the army air corps.

Don Mohrweiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mohrweiss, 344 N. Parkview. He enlisted in the coast guard.

Bob Huntington, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Huntington, 222 Vista Grande. He enlisted in the navy.

Ronald Kuchac, son of Mrs. Gussie Kuchack, 165 Buckingham Way, San Francisco. He enlisted in the navy air corps.

Albert Salogga, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Salogga, Rice street. He enlisted in the navy.

Guido Picente, son of Mr. and Mrs. Picente of Brunswick street. He enlisted in the navy.

Kenneth Sanguinetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Sanguinetti, 1918 Palou avenue, was not able to attend the party as he has just completed boot training with the marines.

Blood Donor Chairmen Named For Daly City Area

Chairmen in various Daly City organizations for the 1951 Red Cross Blood Donors campaign were named in Daly City today.

The chairmen will take names of anyone in their respective organizations wishing to donate blood to the San Mateo County Blood Bank. All of these donations will be sent to help the fighting men in Korea.

Many of the volunteer blood donors will be on hand at the Bank February 16 when Daly City has its "day" to give blood.

Catholic Daughters of America, Court of Saint Mary No. 1155: Mrs. Richard J. Ennis, JU. 7-5200.

DIVERSIFIED USES

Cupro-nickel alloys are used in the petroleum industry, for heat exchangers in the refining of sugar, in power plants and water works service, as well as for valve trim in a great number of industrial applications. The iron-modified 10 per cent cupro-nickel alloy is finding increased applications as an economical condenser tube and salt water piping alloy.

LEWKOWITZ ON WAY TO BASEBALL TEAM

Tuesday, January 23, Joe moved up his sites toward putting a complete baseball team on the field. At 10:20 a.m. his wife gave birth to a 9 pound, 3½ ounce girl. The baby, named Darlene Jo, arrived at St. Francis Hospital.

There are now seven children in the family. Joe had no comment today on the possibility that he is striving for a nine "man" team.

Women Decide Name For Group

The name was decided on at the last meeting of the group January 24 at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Doyle, 169 Abbott. Mrs. Doyle is president of the organization.

Also discussed were plans for a family style dinner to be held February 3 at the home of Mrs. G. Vickers, 155 Abbott.

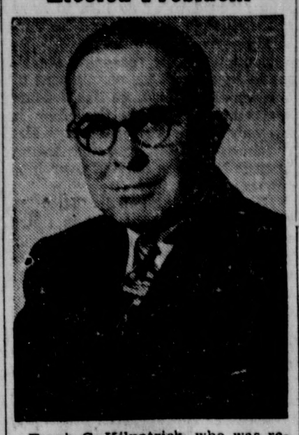
Following the Wednesday meeting, Mrs. Lillian Cairne and Mrs. Doyle served refreshments.

CARBURETOR COMMENT

Carburetor mixtures that are too lean and too rich have one result that is identical though they may effect the car differently in other respects, declares the National Automobile Club. Both cause the engine to overheat.

Elected President



Frank C Kilpatrick, who was recently elected president of the California Redwood Association He is also president of three well-known operating and merchandising companies: The Rockport Redwood Company, Rounds & Kilpatrick Lumber Company, and the Rounds Trading Company.

COMING UP BEHIND STANDING TRAFFIC

Drive at a safe speed when coming up behind standing traffic, advises the National Automobile Club. In such traffic situations it is all too easy to misjudge distances, and misjudged distances can mean serious mishap.

New Drug Kills Boils, Carbuncles

Sufferers from eruptive skin boils and carbuncles are offered new hope for relatively quick, safe relief by the use of aureomycin, the "golden wonder drug."

Early tests with this versatile antibiotic drug indicate that it is the most effective agent yet developed for combating these types of skin infection.

Most boils and carbuncles are caused by staphylococci and streptococci germs, which enter the skin through tiny hair openings or through a very small scratch. While these infections are almost always localized, there is a strong chance that low resistence or amateurish tampering will push the germs into the blood stream and cause serious illness, possibly death.

Much suffering and possible complications can be avoided if the infected person visits his doctor as soon as local inflammation is detected. Advanced cases of boils and carbuncles require surgical treatment.

Aureomycin has proved vastly superior to penicillin and the sulfa drugs in treating these particular infections. In addition, there is no evidence that germ organisms build up a resistence to aureomycin, as they do to many other drugs.

Also good news is the fact that aureomycin is effective when swallowed in capsule form rather than injected with a needle, as is often necessary with penicillin and other drugs of this type.

Your Blood Saved A Life

American Infantry Soldier, Back From Korea, Tells How Blood Aided Fight

"GI" Elisha C. Dana, Jr., 109 West Hillsdale Blvd., San Mateo, wounded three times in Korea, arrived home Monday on a 30 day leave.

He came by plane. The first thing he did on arrival was to marry his fiancee, Miss Renee Macdonald, also of San Mateo.

The second thing he did was to call at Red Cros Chapter headquarters in Burlingame and sign up to give a pint of blood for his buddies still in Korea. At the Red Cross, a poignant story unfolded of his experiences during the heavy fighting and the evacuation, and of the third wound which sent him home on leave. Sgt. Dana stil carries a piece of shrapnel in his right shoulder.

The young man fought with the 38th Infantry, moving up the Northeast coast of Korea beyond the 38th parallel. The Sgt. said his platoon was made up of boys between 18 and 21. Only three in the outfit were over 21. He commented on the courage and fighting spirit of these boys.

Sgt. Dana stated the severe cold weather came suddenly, before warm clothing could be moved in to prevent frostbite. He said the casualties from this horror were heavy. At one time, he learned, his group was holding the entire Chinese army back at one point.

Casualties High

The causualties at the fighting front first aid station where Sgt. Dana was taken included Turkish, British, French, Australians, Canadians and South Koreans, who were immediately given whole blood plasma. Sgt. Dana said that a young Negro lying next to him was practically dead. He was given 2 pints of whole blood and revived. And so he lived.

From what he has experienced and seen with his own eyes, he knows the value of blood at the front.

Dana said, "I'm here to give a pint to save a life. I wish I could make everyone realize how important it is, if you are physically able, to sign up as a blood donor. Everyone who gives a pint of blood means that one more boy will have a chance to come home again.

"Blood Saves"

I've been side by side," he said, "with buddies whose lives have been saved by the Red Cross Blood Service. A Red Cross Field Director "dug in" with our platoon during the heavy fighting and distributed candy, cigarettes, shaving equipment and other little luxuries we otherwise would not have had.

"In the hospital I saw Red Cross slippers on the feet of the boys convalescing from frostbite and on the fighting front I saw many boys wearing Red Cross sweaters."

San Mateo Boy

Sgt. Dana is the son of Elisha Dana of Burlingame Motors. He attended San Mateo High School where he played on the football and basketball teams and went in for swimming. He was a student at San Mateo Junior College and later at Lassen Junior College in Susanville.

A veteran of World War II, Dana served five years in the Infantry, mostly in the European theatre, but he saw service in the Pacific for five months. After the war, he was on active duty with the Army Reserve, serving as Military Ecort for repatriation of the war dead.

Re-enlists

He re-enlisted in the regular army in late 1949 and was shipped out to duty in Korea in July of 1950. He landed at Pusan and was in the front lines the next day.

"I never saw anything like the way these devils fight. They didn't seem human. You shoot them down in droves and still they keep coming. You can't get every one of them, and some are bound to get through your fire and they finally get you. I hope I don't have to go back again."

Sgt. Dana wears a long series of campaign ribbons. He has been awarded two bronze stars for bravery and wears three purple hearts.

Construction Of Eight To Twelve Cargo Ships In West Coast Shipyards Expected

West Coast shipyards probably will be allocated "from eight to twelve ships" in the government's new $150,000,000 cargo ship building program, according to word received from Washington yesterday (Thursday, January 18) by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

A letter to Chamber President Alan J. Lowrey from representative John F. Shelley in Washington, D. C., also indicated that the federal Maritime Board is "seriously considering" reactivation of yard 3 at Richmond, the Alameda yard, and one in Vancouver. When the Maritime Board considers bids expected from these three yards, it will make arbitrary additions to take care of possible reactivating work—$2,700,000 for Richmond; $2,560,000 for Alameda and $2,330,000 for Vancouver—according to Shelley.

Bids Out

The Chamber said it had learned that invitations to bid which went out last week to all interested yards were for no specific proportion of the total number of 50 ships, and that only eight to ten ships will be built as a result of these nationwide invitations.

Balance of the 50 ships will probably be built, according to the Chamber, on an area-allocation basis. Lowrey said that Shelley indicated this would mean from eight to twelve ships earmarked for the West Coast.

"I am meeting almost daily with Admiral Cochrane (Maritime Board Administrator), Al Gatov, and other officials of the Maritime Administration," Shelley wrote the Chamber, "seeking to protect Bay Area and West Coast interests as well as to do what is best for national defense."

Like Interest

"It is essential, however, that West Coast shipbuilders display a like interest. I shall be present when bids are opened . . . on January 31, at which time the sincerity of their interest in building ships on the West Coast should become evident."

(The San Francisco Chamber said it had made a check with shipyards direct and with other chambers on the coast and reports "great interest" in the program and in reactivation.)

Other responses this week to telegrams recently sent by the Chamber urging use of West Coast yards included assurances from Senators William F. Knowland and Richard Nixon that they will "assist in every possible way" in bringing shipbuilding back to the coast.

a series of ten special articles.)

It would be hard to believe such a sweet, neat and business-like-appearing girl is on the thousands who are "chiseling" the California unemployment insurance fund to such an extent that even in this year of prosperity, the fund is diminishing.

But she is a typical example of the chiselers who "are available for work," a requirement in order to get unemployment benefits.

Capable Girl

She must have been capable, because she held her previous job long enough to pile up the required earnings in her base period to qualify for unemployment insurance payments.

Let's say she is a stenographer.

She makes her regular report to the Unemployment Insurance Commission branch office and states she is available for work. There are numerous calls for stenographers, so she is given a referral slip and sent out to be interviewed by a prosepective employer.

Check Finds

She refuesd the job because the pay was insufficient.

She refused the job because she would be required to do mimeograph work in addition to stenographic work.

She went home before applying for the job, put on sloppy clothes, made her entire personal appearance sloppy, used bad grammar at the interview and if given a typing test, deliberately failed.

Another Case

A laundry worker is out of a job. She files a claim for benefits. There is a demand for most laundry workers. She holds out as long as she can on grounds there is no job within reasonable distance of her home. What is "reasonable distance" for an honest worker?

Again, here is a case where the employer helps a worker chisel:

A garment worker during the slack season is given $150 in work tickets. The first week she turns in $15 in work tickets to her employer, who gives her a partial earning slip to give to the Commission, showing earnings for the week as $15. She is paid $19 in benefits from the fund.

The worker does this the next week, and the next.

The fourth week she turns in the remaining $105 in work tickets and of course does not apply for unemployment payments for that week.

In the manner the employer keeps the worker from seeking steady work elsewhere, and thus available to him when he needs her.

The fact that it is a hishonest raid on the unemployment insurance fund does not bother him. He is paying the maximum rate of 2.7 per cent tax rate, along with every other employer, and pay 3 per cent or higher, in order to keep the unemployment insurance fund solvent.

What About Change?

But how about this new amendment to the act, that individuals asking benefits be forced to "seek work on their own?"

This is one of the easiest requirements to evade, possibly because the Unemployment Insurance Commission does not have enough investigators to check such people.

Comes Prepared

A man, or woman, intent upon chiseling, will come prepared with a list of firms and state that he or she has applied, in vain, at all of these firms for work.

Even if the Commission had the personnel to check such claims, it would in many casese by impossible, because the average firm does not keep a record of all the people who apply for work.

So there is no way to check those claims, and the chiseler goes merrily on for another week, on unemployment insurance.

One Weakness

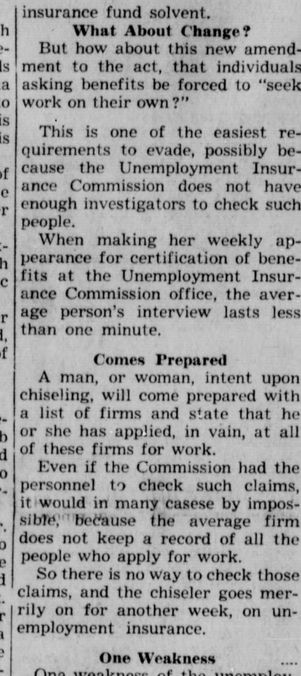
It doesn't allow a bricklayer to refuse a job laying yellow bricks because he is a "red brick" layer, but in too many cases it allows a claimant to get unemployment insurance and refuse employment on similar flimsy pretexts.

The Commission tries to send out qualified applicants for jobs, but the Commission needs amendments to the act if it is going to stop such chiseling.

Outright frauds against the act, which are punishable as felonies, will be described in the next installment.

HOLLYWOOD'S NEWEST



Hollywood's newest "find" is beautiful Faith Domergue. After being groomed for several years by RKO Pictures, she now is making her debut in the recently released movie, "Where Danger Lives." Here, fashionable Faith wears a bare-shouldered cotton sundress for the California climate. A feminine note is added with the dainty apron effect in crisp white cotton.

In Which A "Reasoning" Woman Points Out The Rational Qualities Of Women

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:

In reading the column headed, "How It Looks From A Corner," by Bill Katz, I was greatly amused: yes, amused and filled with pity for the poor lad.

Now here is a species of the male sex who is badly maladjusted emotionally, therefore is a very unhappy person who in his irrational lack of reasoning, is venting his childish rage at his government and at women at large.

This point out plainly to any reasoning individual that subconscious he is comparing and accepting the two factors as his mother who refused to allow him to have his way many times, and he furiously resents discipline.

Not having the reasoning stamina to figure out his resentment of the world at large, he has become scarred emotionally, therefore is a very unhappy person. His psychosis has gathered momentum until it has been carried over into his married status.

His column headed, "How It Looks From A Corner," is aptly titled: What a tiny corner it is, with Bill Katz backed against the wall, squeaking and showing his teeth! Poor, pitiful creature . . . don't he ever get his little way at home?

Does our Mr. Katz know that some of our countries greatest strategic leaders are women? In all walks of life of importance women are represented: scientists, authors, teachers, lecturers, in any group one might care to name.

If it were true that women were ruled by pure emotion and intuition, and lacked reasoning power, would they fall into these various groups?

When the men wish anything to get completed, say for example a campaign to raise funds for some worthy cause or to straighten out a civic plan that they themselves failed to accomplish, who do they scream the loudest for? You're right . . . the women.

I remember not so very long ago, our Mr. Katz stated, concerning a cause that had fallen through because the men were trying to run it by themselves, "To become a success the women will have to get behind it."

She Wants Men

Comparing women and men on the emotional basis, Mr. Katz, if I were ever unfortunate enough to be the defendant on a serious charge, I would want all men jurors! Why? For the simple reason men are noted to be swayed by their emotions much more so than women, and lacking the intuition that women are charged with having.

Whenever a member of the male species gets his respective nose out of joint he wails to the Heavens, "I can't understand women!" "How stupid can one get," may I ask? As each person, (be he male or female) is a separate individual, who is mighty enough or learned enough to understand the subconscious of each living person?

Hail The King

What our maladjusted Mr. Katz needs to be happy, is to live on a very tiny island, with no other inhabitants other than a few birds, and a hord of squeaking rodents, and rule his subjects with a club he so sadly misses as of in the days of yore. Hail the King!!!

The main source of trouble with our Mr. Katz, is that his wife and mother understand him too well for the comfort of his inflated ego! And is he pouting?

Never mind pet, perhaps when you get home your sympathetic spouse will have your slippers ready in your little corner and your smelly pipe filled with your favorite brand. I suggest too, she make an appointment with some good doctor, who specializes in liver disorders. Yours is evidently out of whack. Your liverish moods lately, in your column, plainly points to that fact.

Breslauer Killer Fingerman Jailed

Alves Caught In East By Alert Housewife

Deputies of the San Mateo county sheriff's department were on their way to Philadelphia today to pick up Cecil Alves, the only missing link in the murder of Bookie Martin Breslauer.

Alves faces a murder indictment here for his part in the slaying of Breslauer on a Daly City corner September 29, 1949. He was arrested by FBI agents in Philadelphia Wednesday evening.

Spotted

The dapper little ex-convict gambler was spotted by a housewife who saw him working in a Philadelphia market. She recognized him from a "wanted" circular she had seen in a post office.

Alves was the one who allegedly told Roy "Fats" Teller and John "Midge" Ruano that Breslauer was an easy victim for a holdup. The gang, assisted by Glenn McMains who later turned state's evidence, atempted to hold up the bookie. When he resisted, they shot him down and fled.

The three were apprehended a few weeks after the slaying and Ruano and Teller were sentenced to San Quentin. McMains was allowed to plead guilty to manslaughter and got off with a light sentence.

District Attorney Louis Dematteis said today Alves would be prosecuted as the "fingerman" in the killing, and will go on trial in San Mateo Superior Court shortly.

A twice convicted felon, Alves dodged police for almost 1½ years after the murder. He was the last man to be caught to completely clear the case.

Letter to the Editor

Citizens Called Upon To Support Red Cross

Gentlemen:

The quota of the San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross, has been established as $135,000.00, which is a 20 per cent increase over last year. This amount represents our minimum requirements at the moment.

Our obligation to the Armed Forces, and our increasing responsibility to the Civil Defense program to provide food, clothing and shelter when disaster strikes, has made it necesasry to ask for this minimum.

You have always generously supported the San Mateo County Chapter because of your business interests in this area. The Red Cross must have greater resources to do its greater job. Will please help us reach our goal in 1951?

Sincerely yours,
Joseph Lewkowitz,
Chairman
Daly City Business District

This Reader Wants To Know Where The "Superior Male" Has Been Lately

"How It Looks From A Corner" . . . Well, Bill, my advice is to get out of the corner and examine more closely these gargantuan nemeses of yours which you refer to bluntly as "Women and Government."

I could take a few columns and show you the fallacies in your observations on similarities, but perhaps we can take time for that later.

Admittedly the distaff side is the one that puts in the licks when it comes to the family. Even with the radio, back fence, bridge club, PTA, Voters League and slimming diets the deceptively fragile little bundle of steel firmly packed with intuition is doing a pretty good job at rearing children, building an estate for the family, and even having something to say about a hyper-thyroid bureaucratic government.

Just how the mere male justifies his criticism of this menacing composite is beyond my comprehension. Where has the superior male been this last long time? Why has he fallen behind in his ability to head up a family and win its total respect because he is a wonderful provider and top-heavy with admirable characteristics? What happened to the governments that men have had full sway in managing for so many decades?

Too much time is spent in study of the devious ways of women, and not enough time spent increasing the male talents where they are most needed.

Nothing the women would like more than men they could completely depend upon to make decisions within the home, and men that would rise up and rid out the debauchery in governments.

You deplore the fact that men don't understand women. It isn't important that they do. Women were divinely created and the governments have been the brainchildren of the deep thinking men. Right off I would say that the women were making a better showing, and feel inclined to believe that the instability and weaknesses of the government are the result of the male irrationality and inability to reason.

Men are stubborn, and of course women aren't, and women ask questions that men can't answer—like why are food prices the way they are; and are men going to earn enough money to pay the bill and keep the women happy; and have enough left over to pay the government (or do we pay the "guv" first?)

Now, Bill, please get out of that corner and stop thinking about things like government and women. Best luck.

Helen Cheatham

The March Of Dimes

"Lend Me A Hand."

That is the slogan of the 1951 March of Dimes which will open here and throughout the nation on January 15. The four words are expressed eloquently by the poster-portrait of a bright-faced American boy whose arms have been crippled by polio. He is Larry McKenzie, 12 years old, one of some 54,000 men, women and children to whom a helping hand was extended by the March of Dimes last year.

In three successive years, polio has struck more than 100,000 people in the United States. In that time it has cost the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis $58,000,000 to help them, as well as earlier victims still needing care. Since 1938, the patient-care outlay alone has been $94,000,000 in March of Dimes funds.

But these are only inanimate figures—the real story of the March of Dimes is people. That story is unfolded in hospitals, rehabilitation centers and clinics throughout the country where real people—not "cases" — are fighting their way back to useful lives. It is told in homes, factories and offices by men and women who have made comebacks over great odds and at great cost.

The knowledge that the individual battle can be and often is won should stimulate everyone to back the fight against polio. Tragically enough, the ranks of polio sufferers will be increased this year. We cannot control that—yet. But we can all lend a hand through the 1951 March of Dimes, January 15-31.

Glenn Wilkes Claims Childhood Sweetheart As His Bride Sunday

Married at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church at 3 o'clock last Sunday were Helene Brasesco and Glenn Wilkes.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Brasesco of San Francisco, and the benedict's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wilkes, 61 Shakespeare street, Daly City.

Helene's attendants were Miss Peggy Jones, Miss Carol Thieman and Mrs. Alice Randolph.

Don Wilkes served as his brother's best man. Jack Wallace and Robert Bureina were ushers.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the American Legion Hall in San Francisco. Many friends and relatives were on hand to wish the couple well.

The newly weds are now honeymooning in northern California, and upon their return will make their home at 212 Lee avenue, San Francisco.

Glenn is a graduate of Jefferson High school, and Helene a graduate of Our Lady of Perpetual Help elementary school and a San Francisco high school.

Western Auto Store Opens Here Soon

A branch of the Western Auto Supply Company is soon to open in Daly City.

The company will go into the building formerly occupied by Kings Market, 2392 Junipero Serra boulevard. These are the quarters Kings used until the new building was rebuilt after being destroyed by fire.

The location has a frontage of 96 feet and will provide 13,000 square feet of store and basement space.

Drawing patronage from Daly City, including Westlake, Colma and Broadmoor, the new store will be located at the hub of activity. And there will be plenty of room for cars, as the shopping district provides a large centralized area for parking.

Columbia, "Gem of the Southern Mines," became a State Park on July 15, 1945.

Excise Tax Must Be Filed

The Annual Return of Excise Tax on employers of eight or more individuals must be filed before January 31, 1951, Collector of Internal Revenue James G. Smyth of the First California District, said today.

Persons who in 1950 employed eight or more individuals on a total of 20 or more calendar days during the calendar year, each such day being in a different calendar week, is an "employer" and is required to file a return on Form 940. These returns are to be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue for the District in which the employer's principal place of business is located.

If the return is placed in the mails, it must be posted in ample time to reach the Collector's office, under ordinary handling of the mails, on or before January 31 following the close of the calendar year.

TWO CENT BOOST IN GAS TAX IS UNDER FIRE

JAN. 25—(CNS)—Further consideration of Senator Randolph Collier's constitutional amendment for an increase of two cents in the state gas tax, to be expended on major highway arterials over the next ten years, will be given by the Senate Interim Committee on streets and highways at a meeting scheduled for Fresno county during the interim.

Location of the meeting, according to Senator Collier, has not as yet been fixed.

The committee, hearing Collier's proposal today, voiced objection to a two cent raise, which would have resulted in the motorist bearing most of the brunt of a gas tax increase. The suggestion was made that the increase should be one and two third cents, with other highway users making up the extra third of a cent. This means the trucking interests.

Consequently, Collier said he would give consideration to introducing a "spot" bill to set up the machinery for the suggested new tax and amending his constitutional amendment after further discussion is held.

County Taxes Up 12% In One Year

The property tax bill in San Mateo County for county purposes was up 12 per cent this year over last year, the California Taxpayers' Association reported today.

The levy this year is 4,517,890. During 1949-50 the levy was $4,-091,813.

Property taxes for cities, school districts and other districts in the county are not included in these figures.

Hams To Help

Radio Amateurs Aid Civilian Defense

JAN. 25—(CNS)—Use of "ham" radio facilities will play a vital part in maintaining communications during a disaster, Major-General Walter M. Roberson, state civilian defense director, announced today.

The general said that more than 12,000 "hams" in California have received authorizations from the Federal Communications Commission to assist in the program.

Certain designated frequencies, all of the amateur one-meter bands, a small part of the two meter bands, and portions of the five and ten meter bands, have been assigned to the amateurs, and in addition, they will be permitted to utilize all of the 160 meter band and a portion of the 80 meter band.

In the event of a break-down in regular communication channels, the radio amateurs may be called on to transmit directions for expediting rescue and relief operation, said General Robertson.

"They will be most important," he declared, "when integrated into the Civil Defense Program at the local level. Local authorities undoubtedly will find them of valuable assistance in the communications program."

YOUNGSTER INJURED IN FALL FROM CAR

One minute she was leaning on the door handle of her father's car, and the next minute she was sprawled out on the Skyline highway.

That was the fate of 4-year-old Diane Hale, Sharp Park, Sunday afternoon.

Fortunately her father was not driving fast, and the accident resulted only in a lacerated scalp, and abraisions of her legs. Hospital authorities report Diane is in good condition today.

"March of Dimes" Gets Tea Profits From Hilltop Mkt.

In an effort to stimulate the "March of Dimes" campaign, George Glass, of the Hilltop Market, 6315 Mission st., is donating the profits of all Lipton tea products during this weekend.

George explained that each purchase of this brand of tea will be handed a dime to be dropped in a miniature iron lung, conveniently placed on all checkout counters.

He went on to relate that his sentiments are 100 per cent behind the drive to help infantile paralysis sufferers. He described it as one of the most worthy causes today.

"Just about everyone has seen some tot snatched away with the dread malady," asserted George. "Therefore, we are thoroughly aware of the dire need for the medical assistance.

"I have a brood at home, and every time a neighbor's child has fallen under the spell of infantile paralysis, I can't help but think—suppose it had been one of mine. Then I thank God there is a "March of Dimes" to care for the stricken one."

George said that if everyone would only stop and think for a moment of the urgent need for the treatment, there would be no shortage of funds as now exists.

DANA POINT NAMED

Dana Point, located in Orange county, is reported by the National Automobile Club to have been named after Richard Henry Dana who described this location in his book, "Two Years Before The Mast."

TWO TIPS ON BATTERY CARE

If water is spilled on top of the battery when the cells are being filled, wipe it off immediately, advises the National Automobile Club. Unless this simple step is taken, the water will cause the terminals to corrode. An additional precaution against corrosion is the occasional application of vaseline to the terminals. Oil will help, but it lacks the effectiveness of vaseline for this purpose.

Valuable Mineral Lands Discovered

JAN. 25—(CNS)—Valuable deposits of rare earth minerals discovered in San Bernardino county may enable the United States to become self sufficient in elements vital to war production, a bulletin received today by the State Department of Agriculture states.

The new finds of rare earths are located near the Mountain Pass Service Station, 35 miles east of Baker, on Highway 91, and the deposits cover an area some six miles long and two miles wide.

The federal government has geologists on the scene and D. Foster Hewitt, in charge of operations, states that if one deposit alone is 100 feet deep, 50,000 tons of rare earth bearing minerals will be realized.

The rare earths are known most popularly as flints used in lamps and pocket lights, but more important uses are found in such items as lamps, tracer bullets, and luminescent shells. They are also valuable when used in alloys of light metals and some steel.

Of additional value in the new find is the presence of barite which usually averages 20 per cent of the barite-carbonate rock, but in the new location yields 50 to 90 per cent. This mineral is valuable to the petroleum industry, which also plays a vital part in national defense.

The U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics is the Government's principal fact-finding agency in the field of labor economics and price trends.

UNEMPLOYMENT CLAIMS INCREASING IN DALY CITY

Despite improved employment conditions throughout the state, unemployment claims in the Daly City-South San Francisco area are increasing.

The South City office of the Department of Employment (which also covers Daly City) reports that 391 claims were filed for the week ending January 4. Of these, 295 were paid.

The number of claims filed marks an increase over the previous week.

Polio: A Rising Tide

The 1951 March of Dimes reached midpoint this week as efforts continued to prepare the nation for the job of fighting polio in the coming year.

Serious problems face the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. These arise from the fact that some 54,000 men, women and children stricken by polio last year and earlier required help of some kind from the National Foundation in 1950. This help, alone, cost at least $20,000,000 in March of Dimes funds, and as a result the polio organization is now operating its patient-care program at a deficit. Volunteers have redoubled their efforts to raise more money than ever before in response to this need.

Basil O'Connor, National Foundation president, says that the March of Dimes organization must be prepared to face a fourth successive year of high incidence in 1951. He points out there is no assurance from public health authorities of a "light" polio year ahead. The large number of patients already receiving assistance from National Foundation chapters, plus the lower purchasing power of today's dollar, increase the organization's problem, he reports.

"Today," Mr. O'Connor declares, "we are coping with a rising tide of polio and a receding value of the dollar. There is a hard fight ahead."

The National Foundation during its 13 year existence has spent $94,000,000 for patient care, and $11,753,736 has been appropriated for research and $12,076,218 for professional education. In addition, thousands of dollars' worth of polio therapy equipment, such as respirators and hot-pack machines are kept in readiness at strategically located supply depots for instant use in epidemic areas throughout the country.

Navy Needs Volunteer WAVES

Young women between the ages of 20 and 26 are urgently needed for the WAVES. This is your opportunity to serve your country . . . and you earn while you learn.

The increase in Recruiting has completely exhausted the waiting list for the WAVES. If you are found to be qualified, you can be assured of immediate enlistment.

WAVES in the Navy serve in various fields, such as supply, communications, aviation, general administration and, particularly, hospital work. Additional types of work are being added as fast as the Navy finds them to be appropriate and useful.

Inquire today. An hour of your time may bring you generous and satisfying dividends in training and travel, along with a secure, well-paid career.

For complete information about the WAVES, telephone or pay Chief FOULGER a visit, at the Post Office Building in San Mateo. He will be glad to help you. Call today!

Save Your Jobless Pay!

BY ROSS GRAHAM

(Ed. Note. This is the third of a series of ten special articles.)

Interpretation of "good cuase for quitting a job" has opened up one of the greatest rackets in unemployment insurance.

Original intent of the unemployment insurance act was to pay unemployment insurance to the individual who was out of work through no fault of his own, was willing and able to work and as available for work.

Intentions

The original act intended that the cause of the employee's voluntary unemployment be directly attributable to the employer; for instance, payment of sub-standard wages, danger to the employee's health or morals or unbearable working conditions.

It did not intend unemployment insurance be paid to any person who quit his employment for strictly personal reasons.

Definitions

"An individual shall be disqualified for benefits if (1) he has left his most recent work voluntarily without good cause, if so found by the Commission." But "good cause" is not defined.

The California Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board interpreted good cause to mean "any compelling personal reason."

The door is wide open for chiselers to voluntarily quit their jobs and get unemployment insurance, which unjustly depletes the unemployment insurance fund and is estimated, as closely as possible, to drain the fund of at least $30,000,000 a year.

Responsibility

That's $30,000,000 a year that should be available for payment of benefits to workers honestly unemployed.

Carelessness on the part of employers is partly responsible for continuation of this situation.

If the employer of a "voluntary quit" fails to file a protest with the department within a three-day time limit, after getting notice that the ex-employee has filed a claim, and the claims examiner then decides the person had a "compelling personal reason" for quitting, and therefore clears the claim, the employer is not notified of such clearance.

This is because the employer did not file a protest. Thereafter the employer may not file an appeal.

Remedy

Part of the remedy for this loss to the fund therefore is the responsibility of employers, but even so there should be strict definitions of "good cause."

However, even if employees are found disqualified for leaving the most recent work voluntarily, without a compelling personal reason, the disqualification is for 5 weeks maximum only.

At the end of the 5-weeks disqualification period the worker is deemed to be involuntarily unemployed and then can file for benefits.

In this case the employer's reserve fund is not charged with the benefits, but they do come out of the general unemployment fund.

This also hits the employer, because if the general fund is depleted by such payments, the tax rate on the employer must be raised in accordance with the act.

Trite Reasons

Many of these "voluntary quits", are based on trivial reasons, clearly contrary to the intent of the act. A person wants to visit relatives "back east." Or he has to get to work too early in the morning. Or he is not satisfied with transportation facilities.

Alert employers usually protest claims based on such reasons.

So, ex-employees are disqualified for benefit payments.

This is a small measure of relief for the employer. He protects his merit rating and individual reserve fund, but it costs him to train a replacement, and—

After a maximum of 5 weeks, the claimant is regarded involuntarily unemployed and can get benefit payments anyway from the general fund, to which the employer contributes.

File A Claim

Even if discharged for cause, an employee can get temporary employment by another firm, work briefly and on being laid off, file a claim and draw maximum benefits anyway.

This can happen because the Department sends notices of claims filed only to the last (temporary) employer. The long-term employer doesn't get to file a protest in these cases, but his individual reserve fund is charged with the benefits paid, nevertheless.

A recent amendment to the act intends to make an individual claiming benefits "to seek work on his own," instead of wholly depending upon the Department to find him a job.

But even this requirement can easily be evaded, as will be explained in the next installment.

She's Winning Over Polio

Infantile paralysis struck Mrs. Marguerite Dunn more than ten years ago, but this young mother of Fresno, California, refused to give up. Here she is shown in Fresno County General Hospital physical therapy pool, attended by Physical Therapist Helen Cadwallader. Not shown, but still very much in picture, is the March of Dimes which is helping Mrs. Dunn back to recovery.

National VFW Command'r Coming To Bay Area Soon

Thousands of San Francisco Bay Area veterans will hear Commander-in-chief Charles C. Ralls of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States speak at several gatherings which will be held in his honor during Ralls' official 1951 visit Monday and Tuesday, January 29-30 for VFW units in this area.

"Ralls' recent presence in Washington has provided him with the opportunity to weigh carefully many of the points under national and international debate at this time and he is expected, in the several addresses he will give, to clarify from the veteran's standpoint many of the major issues which today confront the freedom loving peoples of the world;" California Department Commander Donald L. Warner said today in announcing Ralls' forthcoming visit.

To Fly Here

The World War II Marine Corps Officer and leader of more than 1,500,000 overseas veterans will fly to San Francisco Sunday night, January 28, following a major policy address in Los Angeles.

He will drive to Sacramento Monday morning to confer with Governor WWarren and visit the State Department of Veterans Affairs. An appearance before the Legislature is also tentatively scheduled. Ralls will be honored at a luncheon in Sacramento by several hundred VFW members from that area.

Monday evening hundreds of VFW members from VFW Posts in San Mateo, Marin, Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco Counties will honor their Commander-in-Chief at a banquet in the Oakland Veterans Memorial Building. He will visit Oakland's Mayor Clifford E. Rishell at 4:30 Monday afternoon.

Discussion Slated

Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock the VFW leader will discuss the major issues of the day at a press conference in State VFW headquarters in the San Francisco Veterans Memorial Building. He will confer with San Francisco's Mayor Elmer E. Robinson at 11.

Major Bay Area function in Ralls' honor is a public luncheon scheduled for the Oakland Municipal Auditorium Tuesday. He will leave Tuesday afternoon by plane for VFW Headquarters in Kansas City, Missouri.

A resident of Woodinville, Washington, and star halfback on the 1928 and 1929 Gonzaga football teams, Ralls is a member of the Washington and American Bar Associations and was at one time secretary of the Seattle Bar Association. He is chairman of the Washington State Census Bureau and a special assistant attorney general for the state. He served as chief Deputy prosecuting attorney of Kings County, Washington from 1936 to 1942.

GOGSWELL COLLEGE COURSES OPEN SOON

Enrollment and scheduling of new students in the two year courses in electronic, mechanical, and structural engineering at the Cogswell Polytechnical College will take place on Thursday and Friday, February 1-2.

Regular classes will begin on Monday, February 5, 1951.

The college charges no tuition and is open to high school graduates who have two years of mathematics. The college is located at 3000 Folsom Street.

Red Cross Wants Your Cloth Scraps

Moths are the enemy of woolen yarn—the Red Cross needs all the scraps you have—clean out your bureau drawers and give all your scraps to the Red Cross, rather than feed those pesky moths.

The Red Cross makes all scraps of yarn into bright, colorful afghans to throw over our fighting men who have just returned from Korea and still want all the warmth they can get. The wheelchair patients find the bright-colored knee-afghans a great subject of conversation. The mental patients love the bright designs. The afghans are a touch of home brought into the hospital wards.

Any surplus yarn can be delivered or mailed to Mrs. Wencel M. Bartosch, 1449 Bellevue Ave., Burlingame.

There are 225,000 acres of national forest reserve in Glenn County.

ARCHITECTURAL ALLOYS

The building field in 1950 continued to utilize nickel-containing stainless steels for many architectural and structural components. During the year additional buildings employing stainless steels for curtain wall construction have been erected. Fabricators of architectural parts have recognized stainless steels as a building material for external uses exposed to the elements, such as roofing, window frames, spandrels, panels, doors, gutters and downspouts is growing. Standard items of hardware are also being made of stainless steels.

DUCTILE NI-RESIST

The commercial production of magnesium-containing Ductile Ni-Resist was successfully begun during the past year. The improved strength and toughness of this new material, with its resistance to service deterioration, provides an economical alloy which is being favorably regarded by industry.

Car Maker Boosts Record to 25 Million

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—I plan to paper the plaster walls of my newly-constructed house. How soon can I do this?

A—A new plaster wall should not be papered or painted until it has dried out thoroughly. Usually this will require at least two months. Calcimine, in white or one of the many tints, can be used for immediate decoration if desired.

Q—I want to put a new roof on my house which stands in an exposed location where winds of gale force are frequent. What roofing would you recommend?

A—Several types of roofing could be used, but it is likely you will use asphalt roofing which today is supplying about 90 percent of the nation's roofing requirements. It will be advisable to cement down the asphalt shingles by applying a daub of quick-setting cement about the size of a fifty-cent piece under the exposed portion of each tab.

A—Ordinary house paint can be used in painting concrete and portland-cement stucco. But the concrete must be dry. Sufficient time should be allowed for night dampness to dry off, and after a rain three or four days are required to permit the concrete to dry out thoroughly.

A—Waxed floors should be dusted with a dry brush or cloth and polished once a week or so. This holds true whether the wax is applied directly to the wood or over varnish or shellac. But do not use an oiled mop because oil will soften the wax.

Polio Fight Faces Crisis

Only a few days remain of the 1951 March of Dimes.

As in former years, most citizens of our country have contributed generously to the fight against the cruel epidemic disease—infantile paralysis. But this year is not like former years. This year, unless contributions are increased, the program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis stands in danger of curtailment.

Consequently, for those who have not yet given—and for those who may be able to give again—these few reminders are pertinent:

1. Through March of Dimes funds, thousands of boys and girls are enabled to obtain the care they need when polio strikes. There have been more polio cases in the last three years than ever before for a similar period.

2. Through March of Dimes funds a great program of scientific research and professional education is being financed to find a preventive or cure and to train polio experts. Progress is being made at an ever-increasing rate, and success eventually seems assured.

3. Through March of Dimes funds we shall someday relegate polio to the limbo of conquered diseases. In the meantime, we cannot let any of today's patients down.

U.C. Announces Registration

Registration schedules for the 1951 spring semester on various campuses of the University of California were announced today.

On the Berkeley campus the new semester begins on February 5 and all students, whether new, re-entering or continuing, will register between February 6 through 8.

The Los Angeles campus will register all new students on February 7. Continuing students may register and enroll in classes by mail. Registration by mail will not be available to new students, those returning after an absence, or old undergraduates entering graduate status for the first time. These students, as well as continuing students who fail to register by mail, must register in person on February 7.

Registration at Santa Barbara College will take place on February 7 for continuing students and on February 8 for new or re-entering students.

On the Davis campus the College of Agriculture announces February 8 and 9 as the registration dates for both new and continuing students.

San Francisco's Hastings College of the Law will register first year students between January 29 and 31, and second and third year students during February 1 through 3. The Medical Center in San Francisco will register students on February 8 and 9.

Instruction on all these campuses will begin on February 12. Further information concerning qualifying examinations, orientation, and medical examinations may be obtained by writing to the respective Offices of the Registrar.

YMCA Week Proclaimed Throughout The State

JAN. 25—(CNS)—The Governor has proclaimed this "Y.M.C.A. Week" in California.

Pointing out that the Young Men's Christian Association, which is observing the 100th anniversary of its service to young people this week, has dedicated itself to the task of building character and good citizenship, the Governor urged Californians to become familiar with Y.M.C.A. activities and join in advancement of the work.

Students Try For Thirty Awards

Senior students from Jefferson High School were eligible to participate in the honor scholarship examination given Saturday morning, January 20, in San Francisco at Balboa High School.

According to President George H. Armacost of the University of Redlands more than 30 scholarship awards will be made with four top awards offering full tuition for four years.

STORING LIQUEFIED GASES

The rapid strides that have been made in low temperature processing and the growing interest in bulk storage of liquefied gases resulted in an increased use of the straight nickel steels during the early part of 1950.

JUST THE TYPE—Ruth Roman, "Miss Printer's Devil" for 1951. That's the honor conferred upon the lovely Warner Bros. star of "Dallas" by the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen and the Printing Industries of America. In preparation for her new role, Miss Roman learns about printing from Gordon Holmquist, vice-president of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen, and A. R. Tomasini, national public relations chairman. Miss Roman will aid in the observance of "National Printing Week."

MINING INDUSTRIES USE NI-HARD

Substantial quantities of Ni-Hard, a white iron containing 2.5 to 4.75 per cent nickel, as well as cromium, were consumed in 1950 in the form of steel mill rolls and as abrasion-resisting castings for the iron, copper and nickle mining industries and the power and ceramic fields.
